Six Die In Bloody Georgia Race Riot

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Hundreds of National Guardsmen rushed into this riot-scarred city today with armored personnel cars and mounted machine guns to help police quell Negro rioting. Six black men were shot to death in what was described as "guerrilla warfare" apparently touched off by the fatal beating of a jailed Negro youth.

Gov. Lester Maddox instructed the guardsmen to refrain from pleading with snipers not to shoot at them. Instead, he said, the soldiers, if fired upon by snipers, should "blow whatever they're in off its foundation until peace is restored in Augusta."

Nearly 1,000 guardsmen and 150 state troopers manned roadblocks and patrolled streets of this city of 70,000 known widely as the home of the Masters Golf Tournament. Its 120-block Negro district was sealed off.

Gunfire that started Monday afternoon subsided by daybreak, and all that remained of fires that destroyed at least 30 stores and damaged another 20 was a pall of smoke that hung over the city.

The six men were killed as police fought snipers, looters, arsonists and rock-throwers.

Officers said one man was shot to death around 4 a.m. EDT when he ran from a looted store, firing at police with a revolver.

More than 25 persons were wounded by gunshots. Scores more were injured by rocks, bottles and flying glass.

The rioting apparently was touched off by the death of a black youth, Charles Oatman, 16, in the Richmond County jail during the weekend. Authorities said the boy was beaten to death by two black cellmates.

Maddox, however, said the riot would have occurred "regardless of what happened in the jail."

"It is part of the conspiracy that has been planned and well organized to bring this country to its knees," Maddox said.

The governor, vowing that he would not "tolerate anarchy," said the riot would be put down.

"We've got the equipment. We've got the guns. We've got the personnel. We've got the trucks. We've got whatever is necessary to be sure we restore the peace in that area."

Lubbock Twister Kills 26; Rips 2,500 Blocks

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—A tornado, spawned without warning from the blackness of a rain and hail storm, tore an eight-mile gash through Lubbock Monday night, causing death and destruction that "defies the imagination" and injuring as many as 1,000 persons.

The twister that roared up the "tornado alley" of Texas killed at least 26 persons.

The spring dawn over this west Texas city of 161,000 showed damage over 2,500 square blocks.

Skyscrapers—the tallest 20 stories—stood pocked and battered. At least one building was in danger of collapsing.

"It hit us where it hurts," said City Manager Bill Blackwell. He said the list of injured could run as high as 1,000.

Guard Quells South Carolina Campus

COMBINED AP & UPI

Antiwar demonstrators battled authorities at the University of South Carolina, Portland (Ore.) State University and at American University in Washington, D.C., Monday as many of the nation's campuses logged another day of protests.

University of Washington students had trouble deciding which building to take over. Some 300 protesters were ejected from the Institute for Defense Analysis, a top-secret Princeton, N.J., installation.

Many schools, however, returned to near normal after a week of protests sparked by the Southeast Asian war and the killing a week ago of four Kent (Ohio) State University students.

The student strike information center at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., reported that 286 schools were on strike indefinitely.

But 129 colleges and universities in 43 states officially reopened Monday, some with virtually empty classrooms.

Two hundred University of South Carolina students broke into the treasurer's office late Monday, shattered furniture, scrawled obscenities on the walls, scattered files and threw records out windows.

A crowd of 1,000 then began throwing rocks and bricks at National Guard troops. The guardsmen returned the missiles, and for 20 minutes the two sides filled the air with chunks of rock, occasionally scoring hits.

The Guardsmen and Highway patrolmen cleared and sealed off the campus but bands of 1,000 students milled near the school until early today. Classes seemed near normal today, as the guard and state police stood by.

Portland State students skirmished with police over a street barricade. When the initial contingent met resistance, 250 officers converted on the campus. Several students were clubbed when they tried to prevent destruction of the barricades. Twenty protesters were injured and one policeman was hit with a burning log.

At least 61 persons were arrested Monday night and early today in a confrontation between police and students conducting a sit-in on a busy street at Eastern Michigan University's Ypsilanti campus.

Five policemen were injured at American University when students blocked traffic with a small barricade across Nebraska Avenue. The dissidents pelted police with rocks. Police retaliated with tear gas, then fired more gas canisters onto the campus itself. Seventeen persons were arrested.

Thirty-five policemen peacefully cleared 300 students from the Institute for Defense Analysis at Princeton Monday, enforcing a court order. The protesters moved only across the street and said they would

Mill Valley Planners Ask Peace Soon

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night urged the "President and Congress to bring the conflict in Southeast Asia to a rapid conclusion." (Other planning commission stories, page 16.)

On a motion by Commissioner Sally Garoutte, seconded by Ivan S. Poutiatine, the commission voted 6 to 1 to oppose the war in Vietnam and Cambodia and asked the city council to do so, too.

Commissioner Louis E. Bartolini voted against the resolution.

It urges the government to conclude the war for "pressing domestic" reasons, such as "increasing pollution, deteriorating physical surroundings, increasing traffic congestion, increasing need for public transit, and increasing dissatisfaction with the quality of public life, accompanied by decreasing financial ability to attend to these needs."

The resolution declares: "Whereas the resources, imagination and manpower of the entire nation have been committed for many years to foreign military ventures, be it resolved that the planning commission ask the city council to ask the President and Congress to bring the conflict in Southeast Asia to a rapid conclusion."

Senator Claims Kent Guardsman A Slayer

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the wave of an arm, an Ohio National Guard lieutenant gave the order to fire that resulted in the deaths of four Kent State University students last week, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said Monday.

Young declined to identify the lieutenant, but said he should be charged with second degree murder.

New Computer System Zeroes In On Criminals

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California's crime fighters got a new weapon today—a computer system that can identify lawbreakers in seconds.

The $5 million law enforcement communications network was to be dedicated this morning at the state Justice Department headquarters. It links more than 450 California police agencies to computerized crime files here and in Washington, D.C.

Called the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (CLETS), the high-speed message switching system allows any law enforcement agency to obtain instant information on wanted persons, stolen and lost property, firearms and stolen vehicles.

"The lieutenant in charge of that platoon held his arm aloft and pulled it down and immediately a volley was fired from the guardsmen," Young told the Senate.

"The officer who ordered the guardsmen to fire point blank into the students was guilty of murder in the second degree," he added.

Young said he received his information during interviews with Kent State students. He added that he was sending an affidavit from one witness to the U.S. attorney.

Young made his statement as Life magazine published a copyrighted photograph showing one guardsman, apparently an officer, aiming a pistol toward a group of students.

An Ohio National Guard official in Columbus said there was no indication that any 45 caliber pistols were fired during the incident. The spokesman added that only officers carried 45 caliber pistols at Kent State.

Meanwhile, Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, the government's chief civil rights enforcer, assumed command of an expanded investigation into the fatal shootings.

Leonard added that no decision had yet been made on whether to convene a federal grand jury to seek indictments in connection with the incident.

Tiburon Sets Town Debate On Cambodia

Tiburon City Council voted last night to put the issue of extension of the Indochina war into Cambodia before residents at a special hearing next Tuesday. (Other Tiburon City Council stories, page 3).

Councilmen hesitated at stepping into the field of international affairs, but there were comments from the audience that the war was affecting life in the community.

The move prompted by a letter from Nancy W. Sletteland of 1673 Mar West, asking the council to indicate the most effective way people could respond to President Nixon's "action in Cambodia."

Troops Back In '71: Laird

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said today the Vietnamization program is going so well that the United States will have no ground fighting forces in the war after June 30 of next year. "At the end of this next fiscal year there will be some ground forces in Vietnam but they will not be assigned to combat missions," he said.

Laird made the prediction in public testimony before the Senate Armed Forces Committee during which he also said the United States already has pulled "several thousand" troops out of the offensive against Communist strongholds in Cambodia, and all would be pulled out by June 30.

The secretary, calling President Nixon's program for turning the war over to South Vietnam "the most credible" to date, said:

"Every timetable we've set, every troop withdrawal, has been met. Every single public announcement, every timetable, has been met. Each time...from the first withdrawal announcement at Midway, every pledge has been honored."

As for the Cambodian incursion, Laird said the President's timetable for pulling out of that country would be met. He urged Congress not to impose any limitation on Nixon's authority there.

Meanwhile, retired Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin said today he fears that the frustrations of Vietnam will tempt American commanders to go to war with Communist China.

Gavin, an opponent of Vietnam escalation for the last five years, also told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the U.S. incursion into Cambodia appeared to arouse the risk of an American war with the Chinese.

Gavin appeared as a witness after the committee approved

Supervisors Advise Nixon To Hear Youth

The Nixon administration should tune in, not turn off, the youth of this country, the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared today in a message to the president.

The resolution, suggested by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., won unanimous approval. It urges President Richard M. Nixon to communicate with youth and "seek to convince them of the wisdom of the administration's actions rather than ignore their objections."

"Secretary (of the Interior) Walter J. Hickel has wisely observed that regardless of how government officials feel individually, they have an obligation as leaders to communicate with the youth of America and listen to their ideas and problems," the resolution declared.

GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE

Nixon Eyes Telethon; Agnew Hits Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is considering a campaign-style telecast to put the White House in closer communication with dissenting American youth.

And Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was quoted as saying he would like to explain, discuss and debate administration policy on college campuses, but feels there is no chance now for him to be heard.

These developments came up at the White House Monday as the governors of 43 states discussed with Nixon the problems of dissent and communication across the generation gap.

Agnew was said by a Democratic governor, Kenneth Curtis of Maine, to have remarked that "the rascals and the radicals" must be cleared off campuses if the government is to re-establish communications with students.

White House spokesmen said Agnew had told the governors he would like to appear on campuses himself, but faces the prospect of being shouted down by militants and not heard.

The governors spent nearly four hours with Nixon, Agnew and other top administration officials and got a briefing on U.S. operations in Cambodia.

"The President said we're not seeking to commit any of you to support of this decision," said Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, the Republican who heads the National Governors Conference. But he said Nixon told the governors he was confident "it was the right decision, that it will soon be over."

Love said no governor spoke in opposition to Nixon's decision to invade Communist sanctuaries across the Cambodian border from South Vietnam.

The emphasis was on communication with the young and with the campus.

Gov. Francis Sargent, a Republican from Massachusetts, suggested a telethon appearance by the President.

"There was nothing finalized on it; it was only a suggestion and a matter of discussion," White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler said.

Ziegler quoted Nixon as saying he would be willing to undertake such a telecast if it could be worked out as a means of communication with college campuses.

Agnew's remarks were a matter of more controversy. Gov. David F. Cargo, a Republican from New Mexico, quoted the vice president this way: "He said that we have to re-establish authority over the campuses and that the anti-intellectual forces were in control and until they were removed there would be no way to carry on a dialogue with the students or faculty."

Cargo said that statement was made in the course of a heated exchange between Agnew and Democratic Gov. Frank Licht of Rhode Island. Licht said he had no heated discussion with anybody.

The Rhode Island governor said he gave a brief account of the situation on campuses in his state, reported that moderate students there are still working through the democratic system, and said a means of communication must be established to keep them with the system.

"The vice president made a short statement of what has become known as the Agnew line," said Democratic Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine. "He said we could never establish contact with students until we clear the rascals and the radicals out."

FCC Gadfly Voices Somber Protest Against Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — For once, the boyish glee was gone, and Nicholas Johnson, youngest member ever to serve on the Federal Communications Commission, looked somber and weary.

For the past four years Johnson has been needling the communications industries, his fellow commissioners and, more recently, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, with unceasing delight.

Last Friday, the 35-year-old Johnson stepped outside his own field of expertise to denounce, from the steps of the Capitol, President Nixon's policies in Southeast Asia and at home.

Johnson called the U.S. move into Cambodia "a deplorable armed invasion of yet another sovereign nation" and charged the administration and the television networks have conspired to stifle dissent.

Even for one of the most outspoken men in government, this was an unusual attack.

Back in his office an hour later, Johnson quietly explained, "I wasn't appointed by Nixon."

He noted—he is a Democrat selected by former President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966—"but I am a federal official and I feel a measure of responsibility and loyalty to the office of the President."

"I do not treat lightly a matter of expressing disagreement with the President in an area which is not within my responsibilities."

"It was a very tough decision for me to make," Johnson said. "It was a question of personal conscience."

"I feel it's so damned important that we try to turn around the administration on this issue. Anyone who is a member of the administration and feels its policy is wrong has an obligation to speak out."

Johnson, however, has an advantage most officials don't have: a seven-year tenure running until 1973.

He has always been interested in government, he said, but had no idea when he arrived in Washington in 1963 he would become part of it so quickly.

He was scarcely out of law school, on leave of absence from a teaching job at the University of California in Berkeley, and he intended to go back to the academic world that had been his home for years.

Born and raised in Iowa City, where his father had been a professor of speech pathology at the University of Iowa, Johnson married the former Karen Chapman, a high school classmate.

They moved to yet another campus, the University of Texas, where Johnson got an undergraduate degree in 1956 and a law degree in 1958.

A brilliant student, he was appointed as law clerk first to Judge John R. Brown of the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals then to Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black.

After teaching administrative law at Berkeley from 1960 to 1963, he took a leave of absence to work in Washington with the prestigious law firm of Covington and Burling.

A year later, he suddenly found himself, at age 29, in charge of 2,500 employees and an annual budget of $350 million, as U.S. Maritime Administrator, a post in which he shook up the Maritime Administration and the merchant marine industry for 28 months.

Johnson says he thought at first he could work quietly as an FCC team member to reach constructive results. "I waited a long time before I reached the conclusion that he would not be possible here," he added.

His tactics changed. On most issues, he has voted with the FCC majority; but on many decisions he has dissented, often with an acid wit.

House Unit Votes Crime Fight Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee, refusing to wait for Judiciary Committee action, voted today to nearly double current federal "safe streets" aid to cities and states.

The committee approved the full $480 million that the Justice Department had requested for grants, loans and research contracts to fight street crime, violence and drug addiction at the local level.

This was $212 million more than Congress appropriated this year for federal contributions to state and local police work.

It fell short of the $750 million the House Judiciary Committee is expected to propose shortly as next year's authorization under the Safe Streets Act.

NOT WAITING

The Appropriations Committee in theory could not approve any money until after Judiciary Committee action, but the Appropriations committee was not waiting. It elected to proceed and seek a waiver of usual rules to avoid any possibility of a lag into the flow of anti-crime funds. Additional money, if authorized later, can be added to a later bill.

The boost in anti-crime funds was the biggest of any in a $3.1 billion annual appropriation for the Justice, State, and Commerce Departments and the federal courts, recommended to the House by the committee for the 12 months starting July 1.

Most of the other increases over current year levels were related to the latest round of pay raises granted government employees. However, the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs got funds for 223 additional employees to combat the illicit drug flow.

SUBSIDY

The Maritime Administration got $249 million, up $194 million for the current year, to crank up President Nixon's plan to subsidize construction of 19 new merchant ships and to support the nuclear ship Savannah in another year of red-ink operation.

All told, the bill as recommended for House action later this week was $137 million less than Nixon's budget requests, but $574 million more than was appropriated for the same functions this year.

The Volga River drains more than 500,000 square miles—almost twice the area of Texas—and empties into the world's largest lake, the Caspian Sea.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Criticizes Pope

PARIS (AP) — One of the most influential Roman Catholic prelates in Europe has criticized Pope Paul VI for refusing discussion of the controversial question of priestly celibacy.

The controversy, with Dutch Catholics pushing for acceptance of married priests, has developed into a crisis between the Holy See and the Church in the Netherlands. The Dutch have urged that the question be brought before the entire Church for a decision.

The refusal of Pope Paul to permit discussion was criticized by Leo Cardinal Suenens, bishop of Brussels. In an interview with the Paris newspaper Le Monde, Cardinal Suenens said in part: "The question of celibacy itself is not the most important; what is at stake is the manner of conceiving the governing of the Church and the application of certain principles at the heart of Vatican II," the Ecumenical Council which ended in 1965.

Mrs. Evers' Push

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Medgar Evers, widow of the slain Mississippi civil rights leader, is soliciting national support as a peace candidate in her uphill fight for a California congressional seat.

"This war is madness, pure and simple," Myrlie Evers told a packed audience at the Women's National Democratic Club Monday.

She pledged to vote for resolutions being circulated now to restore to Congress the right to declare war, a tactic some senators hope will end the fighting in Indochina.

Hayakawa's View

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — S. I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, says instructors must stick to the subject matter of their courses despite pressures to cancel classes of hold discussions on the Indochina war.

He criticized "professors and even university presidents around the country who are abandoning their neutrality and permitting classrooms to be taken over for political action."

Hayakawa issued a four-page letter to faculty and students Monday, the same day 500 persons attended a campus anti-war rally.

Johnny Hodges Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Hodges, the alto saxophonist who was a mainstay with the Duke Ellington band for nearly 40 years, died Monday after he collapsed in a dentist's office. He was 63.

Hodges was ranked as one of the great early soloists in jazz. With his slow melodic tone, he shaped his passages in a style that was immediately recognizable by thousands of Ellington fans.

"Rabbit," as he was nicknamed, was born in Cambridge, Mass., July 25, 1906.

He is survived by his widow, Ethel "Cue," Hodges, who collaborated with him on some compositions, and a son and a daughter.

Postal Pay Bonus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The postal reform-pay raise package negotiated in the wake of the nation's first mail strike has passed a House committee with a bonus aimed at heading off new walkouts.

The bonus would make the eight per cent pay boost promised to postal workers after the strike retroactive to April 16, not effective with congressional approval of the bill which appears to be weeks away.

The retroactive pay was written in by the House Post Office Committee in the face of a vote that mandates a strike by dissident New York postal workers next Thursday, and in the face of adamant Senate opposition that is likely to delay final approval of the package by Congress.

Storms Delay

Reed Boat Trip

SAFI, Morocco (UPI) — Storms lashed Morocco's Atlantic Coast Monday, forcing Norwegian explorer Thor Heyerdahl to delay until at least Thursday his departure in a reed boat for the West Indies.

Heyerdahl and his eight-man crew hope to sail their papyrus boat across the Atlantic to show that ancient Egyptians could have sailed to Central America in such boats.

Heyerdahl tried to make such a crossing last year in a papyrus boat but storms forced an end to the voyage 600 miles short of his destination.

Saigon Sets Up Coast Blockade

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—South Vietnam has set up a blockade off the Cambodian coast in an effort to halt incoming supplies for the Viet Cong, South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said today. The United States said it was halting North Vietnamese and Viet Cong ships there but said this was not a blockade.

At the same time South Vietnam sent gunboats 50 miles farther up the Mekong River above the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh in a new example of cooperation between the Saigon and Phnom Penh governments in their joint struggle against the Communists.

UPI correspondent Walter Whitehead reported from Neak

Luong, 30 miles down the Mekong from Phnom Penh, that Ky told newsmen the South Vietnamese navy was stopping ships of third nations and searching them for Communist supplies.

In the past both the Soviet Union and Communist China have landed supplies at the port of Sihanoukville but there was no indication any of their ships had been halted by the South Vietnamese. Cambodia had cut the "Sihanoukville Trail" leading from the port to South Vietnam.

The U.S. Military Command in Saigon said U. S. Navy vessels were operating in the same area as the South Vietnamese navy but a spokesman insisted, "This is not a blockade." A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams said, "no third country" vessels would be stopped by U.S. ships or interfered with in any way.

The spokesman said the U.S. vessels were positioned to stop "North Vietnamese and Viet Cong" ships trying to bring supplies into Cambodian territory. The bulk of the Allied fleet was believed positioned opposite Phu Quoc Island, which is also a South Vietnamese province.

"The Cambodian government has been informed," the U.S. spokesman said.

Despite the South Vietnamese-Cambodian cooperation, a crisis in relations blew up over the death of a South Vietnamese petty officer beaten by Cambodian students Monday night in Phnom Penh in a new outbreak of traditional Cambodian-Vietnamese hostilities.

Six students were arrested and Saigon Ambassador Tham Huy Ty told reporters he had lodged the strongest protest.

downtown Augusta was conducted almost as usual, concern remained about the night ahead. City officials huddled with leaders of the black community in hope of preventing renewed strife.

During the night Negroes roamed in small bands, sniping and firebombing businesses, and one patrolman in a black neighborhood said, "a white man's life ain't worth a damn in here tonight."

"In my opinion, this is sophisticated guerrilla warfare," said National Guard task force commander Col. James E. Slayton. "It's clearly organized. It looks like they've been stockpiling their firebombs for days."

Slayton said "approximately a thousand men have been called in. We have already committed about 100 troops."

Black demonstrators protesting crowded jail conditions, early Monday had demanded 24-hour supervision over the juvenile division of the jail.

Mayor Millard Beckum and the City Council scheduled a meeting today with black leaders in an effort to search "with all haste and all sincerity" for a solution to the violence.

A UPI reporter followed one patrol car into the district, where downed power lines sparked in streets littered with broken glass, cement blocks, cash registers, groceries and clothes.

The patrol car braked to a stop in front of a small grocery, where lights played on two men, two women and a young girl looting food.

"Get outta that store," commanded one patrolman. "Hold it right there," he ordered as the women and the child leaped out the shattered window. Another man followed them. Then a patrolman fired his revolver at the man inside the store. The man fell among candy gum balls with a bullet in his heart. "God damn you honkies, you killed one of my brothers," the man cried.

"Shut up your God damned mouth," replied the patrolman. "I'd like to see you try and run."

The man and the woman were put in the patrol car. The child, bleeding from a glass cut, was taken away by ambulance. The patrolman who shot the Negro explained, "It looked like he went for a gun." There was no gun on the man.

Collision Hurts Sebastopol Child

A 5-year-old Sebastopol boy was injured in an auto accident on Shoreline Highway near the Richardson Bay Bridge at 1:50 p.m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said Ernest D. Aebersold was slightly hurt during a collision between cars driven by Carolyn J. Aebersold, 27, of Sebastopol and Frederick C. Finzen, 17, of 16 Eugene Street, Mill Valley.

The unfinished patrol report did not specify injuries, but the boy did not require hospitalization.

Candidate Charged In Neighborhood Row

Dolph Jaeger of Mill Valley, who ran unsuccessfully for the Mill Valley City Council April 14, has been cited by police for battery stemming from an argument with a neighbor on Sunday.

Jaeger, 45, of 1 Manor Terrace, is to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow, according to the Marin County District Attorney's office. The former Navy officer was cited for battery against Fred A. Martinez, 10 Manor Terrace, after he allegedly turned a hose on Martinez during an argument over a parked auto, according to police. The incident occurred at 5:09 p.m.

Men Appointed To Election Committee

Edward Racely of 300 Vista Linda Drive, Mill Valley, has been appointed to the executive committee for San Francisco and Marin counties of the Robert A. Wenke campaign for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Quentin L. Kopp of San Francisco was named chairman of the San Francisco-Marlin campaign.

Engine Taken

An engine valued at $400 was taken from a shed at Marin Landscape Materials at 7596 Redwood Highway, Novato, some time between 6 p.m. Saturday and noon Sunday, James V. Hazen reported yesterday to Novato police.

return to the property when police left.

Seven hundred University of Maryland students blocked traffic on U.S. 1 Monday. The highway was the site of massive confrontations with police a week ago. Traffic was rerouted and there was no violence.

University of Denver Chancellor Maurice Mitchell said Monday a shanty camp raised by students would come down "or the university is going to have to go down." Two hundred city policemen arrested 26 protesters as they pulled up the tents and lean-tos. About 400 students moved right back into the area. National Guardsmen in the Denver area were called to a "practice alert" early today.

A group of striking students occupied the University of Washington's communications building. A much larger gathering stood outside, demanding the protesters come out. The larger group wanted to take over the Air Force ROTC building instead. Most of the 33,000 students attended classes as usual. About 150 National Guardsmen moved back onto the campus of Southern Illinois University after a night of disturbances. At least 50 persons were arrested amid scattered rock throwing.

An estimated 9,000 UCLA students held a rally Monday. About 2,000 of them then marched to the administration building to demand American withdrawal from Southeast Asia. Music students calling themselves the "effete snob corps band" marched around campus playing "Yankee Doodle" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

In Reno, Nev., a center for antiwar protest at the University of Nevada campus was firebombed before dawn today. Its residents say it was apparently retaliation for the firebombing last Thursday of an ROTC building.

California's colleges and universities went into their second day of classes today with a clean slate.

No violence was reported Monday as classes resumed after Gov. Reagan's Thursday-through-Sunday cooling-off closure.

Attendance was another matter, with various campuses reporting everything from sparse to good.

Many campuses resounded to student rallies and convocations, largest of which was at the University of California at Berkeley, where city and campus police, backed by California Highway Patrol forces, watched some 10,000 assemble and adopt demands that strike activities not be penalized and that the university divorce itself from war-related activities.

Vandals Hit Two Parked Trailers

Two trailers parked in a fenced storage yard at 34 De Luca Place were broken into and damaged Saturday night, San Rafael police reported today.

A trailer owned by Guy C. Collins of San Rafael had a door, louvered glass and screen damaged causing $50 damage, police said, and a trailer owned by Robert Zurcher of 933 Fourth Street sustained $100 damage to a front door and screen. Nothing was reported missing.

Jail, Fines On Drug Possession

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court has sentenced San Francisco men to jail for three days and fined them $50 each for a misdemeanor marijuana possession charge.

William Allen Winans, 26, and James William Redo III, 27, had been arrested Feb. 25 after drug agents spotted them sharing a marijuana cigarette in Sausalito. A search revealed additional pot cigarettes.

Victim Treated

Daniel Gibson, 31, of 332 A Bayview Street, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital Saturday for facial injuries sustained in an automobile accident. The hospital did not have a record of where the accident occurred.

Monday a stiffly worded bipartisan resolution aimed at stopping any expansion of U. S. military action in Cambodia.

The measure which seemed to be attracting majority Senate support would cut off funds for "retaining U. S. forces in Cambodia" and would prohibit any expansion of the war into a full-scale effort to prop up the new Cambodian government.

In his testimony, Gavin commented: "What deeply concerns me now is that out of the frustration and dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war in Southeast Asia and the inability of our tactical commanders to realize the long-sought 'victory' there may be those who would be tempted to the ultimate confrontation, the war with Red China."

"There is always a military officer somewhere who wants to win a battle by taking one more hill or dropping one more bomb," he said, "but it is up to national leaders to know when to say yes and when to say no in any given tactical situation." Gavin proposed that Nixon appoint a person not now in government to cabinet rank with the sole assignment of ending U. S. involvement in Vietnam.

Hearing Set For Couple

A preliminary hearing has been set for next Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for a young couple charged with possessing morphine and stolen property when arrested April 30 in a San Rafael Motel room.

Steven and Gayel Baker were arrested at the Bermuda Palms where narcotics agents said they confiscated drugs and narcotics valued at over $100,000 on the illegal market.

Also found in the room were numerous articles such as television sets, stereos, cameras and radios as well as burglary tools.

that they have lost their ability to communicate with the government . . .

"Now therefore be it resolved that this board of supervisors hereby endorses the views of Secretary Hickel, in this regard, and urges Nixon and the members of his administration to renew their efforts to convince American youth that their views and feelings can best be transmitted to government by observance of democratic process rather than violent confrontation."

Supervisor Michael Wornum, who seconded Arrigoni's motion, said he hopes youth can convince the administration instead of the other way around, because the administration's decisions in Southeast Asia are not always the wisest.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar said he did not object to the resolution but did not like the implication that the president is not interested in youth. "The president is interested in youth," said Baar. He added that Secretary Hickel should concentrate on running his own department instead of sounding off on youth. Chairman John F. McInnis said he regretted that a similar resolution cannot be addressed to some responsible representative of youth, urging all parties to observe orderly processes instead of violent confrontation.

Supervisor William A. Gnos approved the resolution, pointing out that students should be recognized and their views respected.

Two Men Injured In Petaluma Crash

Two men were injured in an auto accident at 3:45 a.m. today on Skillman Lane at Liberty Road, north of Petaluma.

Admitted to Petaluma General Hospital for observation were Clyde J. Barker, 22, of Vallejo, and John R. Unangst, 20, of 7581 Bernice Avenue, Rohnert Park. The California Highway Patrol had no details of the accident.

OBITUARIES

William G. Jung Dies At 62

William G. Jung, a janitor at Greenbrae School died yesterday at the school, apparently of a heart attack. He was 62.

Jung, who had worked at the school since moving to 20 Serra Street, Corte Madera, in 1965, taught children at the school to make Chinese kites from bamboo and rice paper in after-school sessions.

The school has a kite day each year and this year's will be dedicated to Jung, a school official said today. Some of his kites will be entered in the Kentfield Spring Arts Festival on Sunday at E. E. Kent School.

A native of Oakland, Jung travelled to Canton, China, for two years as a boy for elementary schooling and a visit to his ancestral home.

In 1945, he moved to Santa Cruz to manage a store. In 1950 he went to Pomona, Los Angeles County, where he worked for a tile company as a supervisor and ran a Chinese restaurant.

Jung was secretary-treasurer knowledgeable dissenter on the war, said there was a question whether the council should get into international affairs and take a position "purporting to represent" residents of the city.

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said the council would have to let residents know the issue was before the council and "let them express their views."

Residents pointed out that the war in Cambodia was a local issue since the College of Marin was closed, local youths are being drafted and funds are diverted to the war effort.

One speaker said: "It affects everybody, we can't cut ourselves off."

Ramton W. Harvey of 173 Stewart Drive, said: "No issue has been as divisive as this one . . . it is the most divisive thing in my lifetime."

Mayor Rice suggested calling a "town meeting," and Councilman M. Carlisle Becker felt it was the least the council could do.

Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood said the council, "the lowest level of the totem pole, in regard to legislation" should show some leadership. The session was set for 8 p.m. Tuesday, at Del Mar School if it is available, and if not, at Reed School.

Child Center Is Approved

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night approved a use permit sought by Edith M. Gardin, allowing her to operate a day care center for up to four children in her home at 315 Tamalpais Drive.

The commission also approved a change in the parking space standards ordinance, reported secretary Betty Long, which would authorize the town engineer to determine when re-striping is required to change the size of parking spaces.

The commission also asked Town Manager Ronald L. Usher to write Union Oil Company to ask removal of abandoned and wrecked cars from a Union station at Paradise Drive and Koch Road, just outside the town limits.

Church Burglary Charged Dismissed

A burglary charge against Warren Burton Moore, 23, of Santa Ana, was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney's office said that no identifiable fingerprints had been found at the church Moore was accused of burglarizing. He had been charged with burglarizing the Tiburon Westminster Church on April 27 and possessing stolen property.

Cronin Gives Fairfax Letter Of Resignation

The Fairfax City Council moved a little closer last night to determining absolutely who is and who is not on its planning commission.

Mayor Frank J. Egger announced that just before the meeting he received the written resignation of Commissioner Leo T. Cronin. It read:

"Dear Mr. Mayor, I have resigned. Respectfully submitted, Leo Cronin. P.S. Short letter to follow."

Cronin resigned orally April 24, and said then he would submit the written resignation, but it did not appear until last night.

Last week the council reappointed Albert E. Gately to the commission. Gately was removed from the commission when he was sworn in as a councilman April 21, but his removal three days later from the council by a recount did not return him to the commission.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet said last night that there have been nine applications for Cronin's seat on the commission.

The council will make the appointment Friday.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

HOUSING — Gave official support to Proposition A on the June 2 ballot which would provide housing units in the county.

SALARY — Approved Councilman Cornelius Van Vleet's $150,000 salary to be given to the city's youth commission and the other half to the Fairfax Senior Citizens Association. He is taking a leave to travel to Europe May 24 through July 10.

STREET — Accepted and approved filing of a notice of completion for slide repair work on Forrest Avenue, damaged in January 1969. The council approved final payment of $9,403 to Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc., but penalized the firm $620 for delayed completion of the work, and $3,544 for additional engineering fees. The council approved payment of the $3,544 to the San Rafael engineering firm of Harding, Miller, Lawson and Associates. Who is to pay an addition of $600 for engineering fees is still being discussed by the city and the contractor.

SERVICES — Deferred a request from the City-County Services Committee for the council's position on the proposal for central countywide police identification and investigation services until the council receives the recommendation of its centralized police services committee.

DISASTER — Endorsed Assembly Bill 569 which updates the California Disaster Act.

CLAIMS — Denied and referred to the city's insurance carrier claims from Peter A. Wynne of Belmont Park and Henry Bragado of San Francisco for damages suffered in a winter slide near 29 Canyon Road. The council postponed until June 8 a decision on whether or not it should remove the debris at the site of the slide. It authorized $3,400 for the job April 13, but the property is not in the city limits.

RETREAT — Approved a request from Rev. Roland Chandler of Christ the Victor Lutheran Church to use the city's portable stage for a Lutheran youth retreat June 26-28.

TRAFFIC — Approved the installation of three additional stop signs at the intersection of Manor and Scenic roads after receiving a petition and hearing complaints from the audience about speeding on Scenic.

Mental Health Aides

Write Peace Letter

A letter sent to President Richard M. Nixon and congressmen urging that American troops be withdrawn from Vietnam and that armed troops be banned from college campuses has been sent by employees of Marin County's Community Mental Health Center.

Fifty-three employees signed the letter, which was also forwarded to the county board of supervisors.

More Review Ordered For Marina Plan

A new dock and berthing facilities planned by Mariam M. Tellis in Richardson Bay will need more review so that differences can be ironed out between the owner and the planning staff.

Marin County Planning Commissioners yesterday instructed Acting Planning Director Werner Von Gundell to consult with Mrs. Tellis and bring back a new proposal on May 25.

Mrs. Tellis wants to build new facilities to take care of 26 houseboats that are now berthed near Gate 6, in the block bounded by Humboldt Avenue, Grove Street, Donahue Avenue and Eureka Street. The Tellis pier is just south of George Kappas pier. Access is along Humboldt Avenue.

Mrs. Tellis balked at the planning staff's recommendation for pushing the walkway along Humboldt Avenue further into the bay to provide space for parking, landscaping and a bicycle-pedestrian path along the waterfront.

Mrs. Tellis complained that moving the walkway and pilings and filling additional tidelands would cost $25,000. She agreed to move a sunken barge that now sits in the middle of the block.

Hugh Dougherty suggested that the planning staff and Mrs. Tellis work out some schedule whereby the improvements could be spaced out over a three-year period.

Margaret B. Azevedo wanted to know why the Tellis marina will have only about 25 per cent open water, whereas the county's marina ordinance calls for 50 per cent open water.

Von Gundell explained that Mrs. Tellis's marina existed before the marina ordinance was passed, and the proposed new berthing facilities would provide more open water than at present. Although open water still does not meet the 50 per cent requirement, the new facilities would be an improvement over the present, said Von Gundell.

Ballet On TV

Members of the Marin Civic Ballet Company will perform "Clown Alley" on KQED-TV at 10:20 a.m. Monday as part of that station's series for schools, "Music in America." The show is directed by Leona Norman and choreographed by Marc Wilde.

Fairfax Delays Action On Cable TV Written Offer

The Fairfax City Council last night received Clear View Cable Systems's written offer for revision of the company's franchise in the city, but disregarded the city attorney's advice that it be accepted, and postponed action until June 8.

The council had been waiting a month for the company to put in writing a verbal offer it made to City Atty. Wallace Myers, and did not know it had been received by Myers until he announced it last night.

In the offer, the company agrees to a 15-year time limitation on the presently open-ended franchise contract, a refund of all connection charges, and a basic $6 monthly rate.

The franchise now allows the company to offer three plans — the higher the connection charge, the lower the monthly rate.

The company's revision offer, however, does not include any change in the present 2 per cent of its Fairfax income which goes to the city.

In previous discussions, the council expressed an interest in raising its share of the company income.

Following Myers's announcement that he had received the written offer and his suggestion that the council accept it, Mayor Frank J. Egger said that he hadn't known the city had received the offer and that he had intended to recommend that the council either forget the whole thing or schedule a public hearing and open the contract for complete renegotiation.

However, Egger said, even though the city now had the written offer, he didn't think the council should act before reading it and proposed action be deferred until next month. The council agreed.

Egger asked if anyone in the audience had anything to say about the cable franchise, and Priscilla Gray of 126 Ridge Road said her bill was higher than it was supposed to be.

"Right now I'm corresponding with some computer in Dublin," she said.

The company's billing office is located in Dublin, Alameda County.

Egger suggested she talk to Ronald Giorgi, Clear View's Fairfax representative.

Mrs. Gray said that she would "wait to see what the computer has to reply."

Restraint On Cambodia Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some clergymen have been contacted by the White House and urged to convey a sense of restraint and reflection in the wake of President Nixon's decision to send troops into Cambodia.

White House officials would not say how many telephone calls were placed Saturday or to whom.

"We didn't ask them to get up in the pulpit and say anything. But we do think it's a good idea to sit back and reflect. He (Nixon) believes it requires calmness from leaders and that a sense of calmness can be conveyed in religious services," one White House official said.

Rev. C. J. Kinsolving, the Episcopal bishop for the Southwest, said he was asked to lead a discussion of the Cambodia situation Sunday with his church members. He said he refused.

Tomas Bay Homes Plan Given Nod

A master plan for an abbreviated version of Tomas Bay Farm near Marshall won approval from the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Herbert Angress will be allowed to build 25 single family homes and condominium units on 10.2 acres on the bay side of Shoreline Highway. He already has commercial zoning for about 11 acres adjacent, also on the bay side of Shoreline.

Angress had originally planned 78 living units plus a youth hostel and trailer camp sites on his 62 acres at 21300 Shoreline Highway. On April 21, the Marin County Board of Supervisors rejected rezoning for the 40 acres on the upland side of Shoreline Highway on grounds that the water supply is inadequate for the entire development.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

MARINVIEW — Approved rezoning for 11 townhouse units on 1.2 acres in Marinview unit 1 in Tamalpais Valley. The parcel is located on the southwest corner of Bell Lane and Countyview Drive. The rezoning raises the density from five to 11 units on this parcel, but the overall density in the 25-acre unit 1 is 2.6 per acre.

BOLINAS MESA — Continued until May 25 the proposed rezoning of several lots along Elm Avenue on the Bolinas Mesa from general commercial to single family residential.

VARIANCE — Upheld the zoning administrator's decision

Agnew Blames Unrest On TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has blamed the television industry for youth's fascination with demonstrations and confrontations.

Today's young people "enjoy confrontation because they were brought up on television instead of books," Agnew wrote in the May 16 issue of TV Guide.

"They see action, violence, confrontation on television and they are naturally more conditioned to action than logic," he wrote.

He also raised the question of how many illegal demonstrations are prompted by the presence of a television camera.

"The television industry's obligation extends to the far greater boundaries of responsibility, even if it proves dull—a weighing of the facts and a balanced presentation of the news."

Today is Tuesday, May 12, the 132nd day of 1970 with 233 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Saturn and Mercury. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history: In 1922 the magazine "Radio Broadcast" commented, "The rate of increase of the number of people who spend at least part of an evening listening to radio is almost incomprehensible."

In 1937 George VI was crowned King of England, succeeding brother Edward, who abdicated to marry American divorcee Wallis Simpson.

In 1949 Soviet authorities in Berlin announced the end of a blockade of that divided German city after 328 days.

In 1963 President Kennedy ordered federal troops into Birmingham, Ala., after an outbreak of civil rights riots.

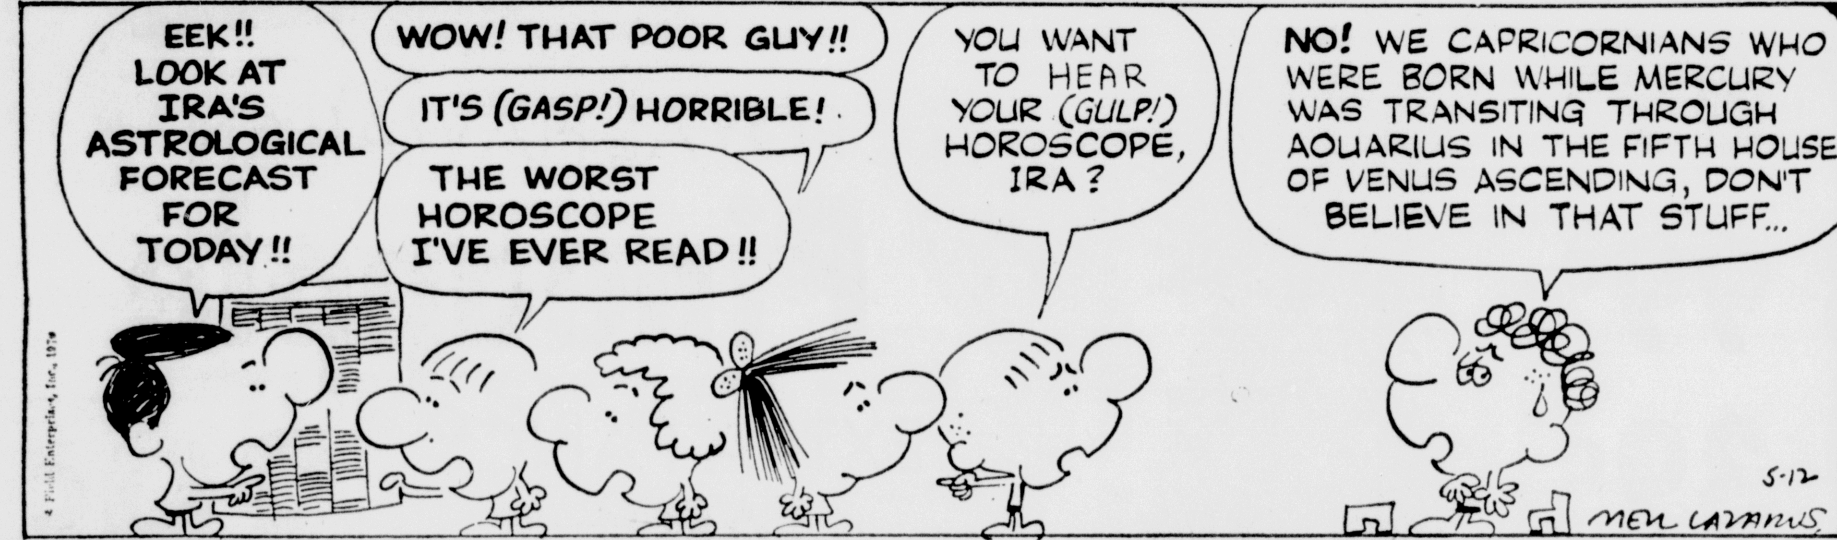

A thought for the day: Scottish essayist Thomas Carlyle said: "Adversity is sometimes hard upon a man, but for one man who can stand prosperity, there are a hundred who will stand adversity."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Bridge Expert's Lot Is Not Always Happiest One

The life of a bridge expert is full of pleasant surprises. You sit down to eat lunch in a restaurant, and two friends do you the favor of sitting down with you, one on each side. They tell you about a bridge hand, each filling one ear with complaints about the other. And you have the pleasure of deciding which of them is right.

LOW CLUB
West opened the four of clubs, and East won with the king. He returned the deuce of clubs to the ace, and West shifted to the deuce of spades. South won with the ten of spades and led the ten of diamonds for a finesse, losing to the queen.

East could take the ace of hearts, but he could not defeat the contract. East actually returned a spade, but South had to lose a heart trick at the end.

See how good you are at delivering judgment. Whichever way you decide you're sure to make one enemy, but that's part of the fun of being a bridge expert. Which defender was responsible for letting South make his contract?

PLACING BLAME
It's true that West could have defeated the contract by leading a heart, either at the first trick or after taking the ace of clubs, but there was no way for him to know that East had strong hearts and weak spades instead of the reverse.

East was in a position to direct the defense. There was no need for East to return a club at the second trick. Even if West had started with A-J-9 at the head of his clubs, East was sure to regain the lead with the queen of diamonds and could therefore wait to lead the deuce of clubs at that time.

FIRST DUTY
East's first duty was to show his strength. At the second trick East should return either the nine of spades (an obvious top of nothing) or the three of hearts (a lead from strength).

Thievery Fails
A thief attempted and failed to steal depth sound equipment, Saturday around 9:10 p.m. from a cabin cruiser owned by Ronald T. Chard of 292 Adobestone Court, Marinwood, and berthed at Gate 4, San Rafael Yacht Harbor, police reported yesterday. The thief also tried and failed to force the cabin door, according to police.

Mill Valley School Budget Up $122,000

A $3,439,000 tentative operating budget for the 1970-71 school year was reviewed briefly last night by the Mill Valley School District Board, which will study the budget further at its May 25 meeting, according to Supt. James A. Collins.

The budget is $122,000 more than this year's, Dr. Collins said, indicating most of the increase will be met by additional state aid and higher property tax revenue as a result of increased property assessments in the district.

Estimated income for the district next year is $3,274,000, according to the superintendent, who said the district will begin next year with a $165,000 balance from the current year.

Dr. Collins said the district hopes to maintain a $100,000 reserve fund next year and said the board will consider budget cuts at the next meeting.

Teacher In Novato Fired By Trustees

After a one-hour closed meeting last night, the Novato Unified School District board fired a permanent teacher, Supt. James G. Bunker reported today.

Wyman W. Kunzler, mathematics teacher at Hill Junior High School for the past four years, was dismissed by the board, which did not make the charges public.

Bunker said that Kunzler will be furnished the charges by the county counsel. If he chooses to fight them, he has 30 days to answer them, whereupon a hearing would be held in superior court, according to Bunker.

Kunzler said he would not make a statement until he had talked to California Teachers Association attorneys.

The board notified 19 teachers facing release that they would all be reemployed in the district next school year. There have been enough resignations and changes of personnel to make places for them, Bunker said.

The board accepted resignations from Susan M. Robinson, Melanie Biggs, Barbara Hoadley, Carol Ingala, O. T. McAttee and Karen Eikenberry.

San Francisco Murder Case Nears Jury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Superior Court jury of seven men and five women heard closing arguments today in the first degree murder trial of Mrs. Elsie Nyhan, 74, and her son, Daniel, 45, of Tiburon.

Mrs. Nyhan was back on the witness stand Monday as testimony was completed in the trial which is ending its third week today.

Questioned by her attorney, Jack Berman, Mrs. Nyhan said she had only a very vague recollection of Oct. 26, 1968, at her apartment where Mrs. Genevieve Dolan, 61, was found dead with wounds in her head, apparently from blows.

Another witness Monday was Marin County sheriff's deputy Victor Carrara who said Daniel Nyhan was arrested without resistance at the home of Miss Mary McCormick in Tiburon following Mrs. Dolan's death.

Nyhan had been quoted as saying he received scratches and bruises in a scuffle with the officer who arrested him.

Teachers Hold Out For Raise

The Kentfield School District board last night received a negative reply from its teaching staff to a tentative budget proposal which included a 6 per cent salary schedule increase for the teachers, according to Supt. Anthony G. Baich.

Edward Allen, representing the Kentfield Teachers Association, told the board that the teachers want a 9 per cent increase as well as full medical and dental coverage.

The board took no action on the subject last night, but will discuss the salary proposals at a special meeting next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Wolfe Grade School.

The Kentfield School District board also:

MUSEUM — Approved a contract for science services for next year with the Louis A. Boyd Museum. The district will pay the museum 20 cents per student for a total of $111.

HEAT — Discussed, but took no action, on proposals on how to keep one wing of the Greenbrae School cool during warm weather. Discussion last night centered on the possibility of thermal roofing.

LANDSCAPING — Authorized the employment of the San Francisco landscape architectural firm of Royson, Hanamatsu, Beck and Avey to draw up a master plan for restoration of the Adeline E. Kent School campus, which was disrupted by work on the Corte Madera Creek flood control project.

HANDICAPPED — Discussed but took no action on a change in state law under which the district will have to pay $2,900 next year for programs for handicapped students operated by the county.

STUDY — Authorized spending $6,000 on a study of differentiated staffing programs, intended to provide different and more productive ways of utilizing staff and finances in the schools. The study will start this summer and continue through the next school year.

BIDS — Approved calling for bids for the district's grounds maintenance contract, which expires in June. Bids will be opened June 5.

BUILDING — Discussed but took no action on a proposal to include a covered walkway in plans for a county sponsored hearing handicapped building to be constructed adjacent to Adeline E. Kent School.

APPLICATION — Approved the district's application for $710 in state funds to update school library facilities.

Marinites Urge More Control Over Logging

I-J Special Report

PORTOLA VALLEY — Two Marin representatives today made another pitch for stronger control over logging at a meeting of the Redwood District Forest Practice Committee in Portola Valley, San Mateo County.

Joseph A. Forest, deputy county counsel, and Harold E. Gregg, conservation leader, suggested a series of amendments to the state's forest practice rules to tighten up state regulations that now permit loggers to operate anywhere in the state without notifying the county involved.

Changes suggested by Forest and Gregg would require that the county board of supervisors be presented with logging plans at least 60 days before logging is to start. The logging plan must include provisions for flood control, erosion control, reforestation, excavation and fill control, fire prevention and slash disposal.

The timber operator would also be required to deposit a performance bond of $100 per acre.

The employees will receive jeweled emblems in recognition of each five-year period they have been with the utilities company.

Tamalpais Fire Budget Is Approved

A $205,787 preliminary operating budget for 1970-71 was approved last night by the Tamalpais Fire Protection District board, according to Bernard Lenhart, board secretary.

Lenhart said the new budget, which includes $19,768 for capital expenditures, $33,860 for maintenance costs and $152,159 for salaries, is $28,089 more than for the current year. He said most of the increase is due to cost of living salary hikes for district employees.

A public hearing on the budget is set for the board's next regular meeting June 8 at 8 p.m. in the Tamalpais Community District Office, 305 Bell Lane, Mill Valley, Lenhart said.

The board also agreed last night to accept a use permit from the Marin Municipal Water District to allow the fire district to use a small piece of property on Vernal Heights, between two water district storage tanks for an addition to its radio-telephone communications system.

Flood Subzone Hearing Planned

A public hearing will be held at 3 p.m. May 26 to create Flood Control Subzone 9-A for the unincorporated areas of Ross Valley.

The hearing will be held at the Civic Center by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. The subzone would include all unincorporated areas within the present Flood Control Zone 9 (Ross Valley), including Greenbrae, Kentfield, Kent Woodlands, Del Mesa and Sleepy Hollow.

Charles E. Murphy, flood control engineer, said the purpose of the proposed subzone is to create a taxing district, separate from the cities in Ross Valley, to handle flood problems in unincorporated areas.

Housing Authority Recruiting Report Set

A progress report on recruitment of a new executive director will be presented to the Marin County Housing Authority and redevelopment agency at a joint meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in the Manzanita Center, Marin City.

The housing commissioners will also discuss relocation plans for residents of the Hillaria housing project who will be displaced by a planned new development.

I-J Article On Reading Wins Prize

An article in the Independent Journal's Marin Magazine has been awarded first prize by the International Reading Association for a newspaper story on the teaching of reading.

"A Lap To Sit On" by Bryce W. Anderson, which appeared in the Marin Magazine on Feb. 15, 1969, was given the first award for a story in a nonmetropolitan newspaper at the association's convention last weekend in Anaheim.

The story, prepared with collaboration of Harriet Sherwin, remedial reading teacher in the San Rafael city schools, described ways in which parents can help their youngsters learn to read.

First award for a story in a metropolitan newspaper went to Bert Shanas of the New York Daily News. First for a series of articles went to Janet Chusmir of the Miami (Fla.) Herald.

The International Reading Association has a membership of about 60,000 reading teachers, mostly in the United States but including members in many other countries.

Babysitter Yells For Help After Taking A Pill

An 18-year-old Mill Valley babysitter was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for possible drug ingestion after she told a San Rafael patrolman that she was "shrinking."

The babysitter, Irene Fay Stark, was caring for 16-month-old Earl Morgan Robinson, at an apartment at 350 DuBois Street, police said.

The patrolman had been summoned to the apartment at 6:59 a.m. to investigate a woman's screams. The babysitter asked the patrolman, "do I look like I'm shrinking to you," police said.

She told police that about midnight she had consumed a white pill from a container in the cupboard of her employer, Susan G. Robinson, to quiet her nerves.

The container held four other pills and a plastic bag of what might be marijuana, police said.

'Obnoxious' Mt. Tam Lights On Last Night

Bright security lights at the Air Force's radar installation atop Mount Tamalpais were switched on again last night after a three-day shutdown brought about by complaints from Mill Valley residents.

According to Air Force Major William R. Edwards, commander of the radar unit, it is not known whether the lights will be on or off tonight.

"I was told from higher up to leave the lights off until further notice," the major said yesterday. "We're turning the lights on tonight to take measurements of light intensity and then we will turn them off again."

"However, I may get a call tomorrow to turn the lights on again," he added.

The small contingent of Air Force personnel has come under fire recently from Jeffery Morshead of Mill Valley, who has gathered 200 signatures on a petition which claims the lights are "obnoxious and not in keeping with the environment of Mount Tamalpais."

Sonoma County Hikes Jail Fees

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved an agreement with Marin and Napa counties increasing the reciprocal rates for jail prisoners.

The rate paid by counties housing prisoners in neighboring jails had been $6 per day, but Sonoma County Administrator David L. Nichols said increased costs require the rate to be raised to $6.74 per day. The rate will also apply to an agreement with the federal government.

Nichols said the increase, which had been recommended by the Sonoma County Grand Jury, will be reviewed again in September when cost figures from the 1969-70 fiscal year have been analyzed.

The rezoning was approved 3-2 with commissioners Benjamin F. Edwards and William Wilson against. Edwards said that the commission could, rather, use delaying action through

Water Board Backs Off On Cease Orders

SAN LUIS OBISPO (AP) — The Central Coast Water Quality Control Board has rescinded a cease and desist order against several Monterey Peninsula communities previously accused of polluting Monterey Bay. The order, issued Feb. 14 halting new construction in the Carmel Sanitation District, the City of Pacific Grove and the Seaside County Sanitation District, was rescinded at a meeting in the San Luis Obispo City Hall.

The action came Monday after the board ruled Pacific Grove and the districts, which include Seaside, Del Rey Oaks and Sand City, were meeting water quality regulations.

It did not include the City of Monterey, where new sewage treatment equipment is nearing completion under a bond issue passed several years ago.

The board had also sought an injunction against the communities from Monterey County Superior Court and fines of up to $6,000 per day if they failed to halt pollution of the bay. Judge Stanley Lawson last month turned down the injunction and the case was dropped by the board.

More Helpful Hints from PG&E:

Even the most faithful pilot light can go out. So check your pilot first if one of your gas appliances or furnace isn't operating.

Most gas ranges have more than one pilot. If you're not sure where they're located, consult your owner's manual. (If you need help, call us.) Before relighting a pilot, be sure all burners are turned off. Allow a few minutes for the air to clear, then touch a lighted match to the pilot opening. The pilot should light with a small, blue flame, and the burner should light when you turn it on. If the burner fails to light, call us. We'll send a man out to check it.

Modern gas water heaters and dryers shut off completely if the pilot goes out. Most models also bear manufacturer instructions for relighting. If you can't get the appliance operating, call us or the installer.

If the pilot of any gas heater or furnace goes out, TURN OFF THE MAIN

Housing, Redevelop Meetings Are Set

The Marin County Housing Authority will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the Manzanita Center in Marin City to be followed by an adjourned meeting of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency at 8:30 p.m.

Last Tuesday's housing authority meeting did not allow enough time to conduct the redevelopment agency meeting, according to Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of both agencies.

How to WARM UP A cold pilot.

Even the most faithful pilot light can go out. So check your pilot first if one of your gas appliances or furnace isn't operating.

Most gas ranges have more than one pilot. If you're not sure where they're located, consult your owner's manual. (If you need help, call us.) Before relighting a pilot, be sure all burners are turned off. Allow a few minutes for the air to clear, then touch a lighted match to the pilot opening. The pilot should light with a small, blue flame, and the burner should light when you turn it on. If the burner fails to light, call us. We'll send a man out to check it.

Modern gas water heaters and dryers shut off completely if the pilot goes out. Most models also bear manufacturer instructions for relighting. If you can't get the appliance operating, call us or the installer.

If the pilot of any gas heater or furnace goes out, TURN OFF THE MAIN

BURNER VALVE FIRST. Allow ten or fifteen minutes for any accumulation of gas to clear before relighting pilot (following the instructions on the equipment). With the pilot relighted, the furnace or heater should operate. If it won't, call us.

PILOTS NEEDN'T GO ON VACATION. Some folks prefer to shut off furnaces and water heaters during the summer or vacations. However, it's more convenient to turn off the main burner, but not the pilot. When the pilot is lighted, your furnace is ready to work on a cold day. Most hot water heaters can be turned to "PILOT" when not in use. This keeps the pilot lighted and prevents the main burner from heating water.

WARNING: Never look for a gas leak with a lighted match or candle. If you suspect a gas leak, call PG&E right away and we'll check it.

If you call for a PG&E service man to check out a gas leak or an appliance, have him show you where your pilots are, and how to relight them. If an appliance needs repairs or parts, an appliance man, plumber, or furnace man should be called.

P.S. The average daily cost of gas and electricity to run a typical household year 'round is less than a couple of packs of cigarettes.

Slit-Style For Evening, Cover-up For Day

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clothes that expose are alive and healthy, thank you, even though the miniskirt is on its last legs. The newest answer to the mini fancier is the midcalf or midi, that's true. But cut a dress neckline to the wasteline in front, slit it up to midhigh center front, and the result is as startling as any of the minis of the minis ever were.

Four of New York's pacesetter designers who showed their fall and winter collections to the nation's buyers last week endorsed this new method of making a girl look sexy as a Marlene Dietrich ready for a Las Vegas appearance—if she has the figure of a Marlene.

THIS DUAL-SPLIT fashion is for evening, however, so the street scene will be a little more covered up around the knees come fall. Sorry about that, fellows.

Some of the deepest gashes in skirt fronts for evening showed at Oscar de la Renta's where the designer did slim little midlength evening dresses in such luxury fabrics as panne velvet and slashed the skirts even above midhigh. Done in black, with black panty hose, they weren't exactly dangerous when the girl walked, but sitting down in one would be another matter.

Jerry Silverman told the buyers provocative clothes weren't ending with the mini demise. He's moving clothes closer to the anatomy of the women. He reminded that form the standpoint of dress proportion alone, when hemlines plunge, necklines do too.

"HEMLINES HAVE changed, but the rules of the game haven't," said Silverman. "A pretty dress is still a pretty dress, and that's how it will be."

Gayle Kirkpatrick declared of his well-styled clothes,

Marin Women

Tuesday, May 12, 1970 Independent-Journal, 13

"these are fun...to give joy and make people feel happy." Happiness sometimes with this popular designer was open necked dresses with button front. Unbuttoned, they gave a low V-throated look.

Marie McCarthy, designer for Larry Aldrich, Inc., used the unbutton treatment for both skirt fronts and necklines.

What Oscar de la Renta designs doesn't get into the wardrobes of most of us—not at retail prices of $250 for a simple daytime suit on up to $1,400 for some of his fabulously fabricated and decorated evening clothes.

BUT WHAT de la Renta does get copied on down the price scale, albeit the handwork, the jewelling, the fabrics costing a king's ransom, all the other pizzazz getting toned down considerably.

This designer endorsed the midi all the way for day and most of the time for evening. Some of the other leading collections are giving us gals a choice, with skirts covering the kneecap only.

De la Renta showed boots, all designed by David Evans with almost everything except his group of floor-sweeping classically formal gowns.

The boots, in soft suede for day, fancied up with pattern for evening, somehow made the drastic hemline drop look elegant on the tall, swinging, skinny models which included

Penelope Tree, the big-eyed daughter of Marietta Tree, a former U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

WHAT IT'LL look like on us who aren't Penelope Tree may take a while to be accepted.

De la Renta dedicated his collection to Lesley Blanch, the heroine of "Journey into the Mind's Eye" (go to your local library branch about now), filling it with "flashing images of exotic places, Japan, Turkestan, Hungary, Persia, India—the home of magnificently gaudy colors and barbaric embroideries."

There were peasant touches everywhere, and one of his favorite ways of belting dresses for daytime and evening was with the wide, laced cummerbund often called the milkmaid belt.

De la Renta long ago killed off boxy shapes and heavy inner construction. The clothes all flow, many of the laces for evening with sweeping, exaggerated kimono sleeves, the daytime coats long and lean, with self belts.

MY NOTES summing up this designer's collection included also his peasant-like hats, little close-fitting leather numbers that looked like he'd been reading Robin Hood.

In the peasant mood, too, the tiny prints used both for day and evening, usually in somber brown and gray tones, often combined with solid shades.

He did knickers for both day and evening, narrow-legged jobs with the legs always tucked into the above-calf boots.

Giant scarves, stoles and capes in fabric and fur swung around the body a la Adolphe Menjou. One fur wrap that brought down the house was in golden toned fox, the skins cut on the horizontal, the whole thing sweeping to the floor and ending in an all-around border of fox tails.

ope were the hairdos, done by Elizabeth Arden stylist, which wrapped coronets (braids) around the hair of the models whose hair otherwise was skinned back into a bun.

And as for makeup, by Pablo of Arden, it was described as, "the eye, like an icon, circled with bold strokes of smoky gray shadows iced with arctic white." Cheeks and temples were roughed deeply in earth tones of terra cotta. I kept thinking of how Claudette Colbert looked doing the Cleopatra bit years ago in a movie.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Can't Girls Buy Their Own Pants And Stay Out Of Men's Shops?

DEAR HELEN:

We've had it with girls. If a guy walks into the try-on room in the men's department of clothing stores, he may come out with a red face, followed by squeals and giggles. The dames (there are always two or more as they shop in flocks) are trying on our jeans and cords.

But if a man dared walk into a ladies' dressing room, he'd be thrown out of the store.

Why can't girls buy their own pants and stay out of our men's department? — EUGENE

DEAR EUGENE:

There's no figuring out wimmin. Girls say men's jeans and cords fit them better. But most men figure this is just another ruse to overrun their territory.

You might solve the battle of the dressing room by asking your store to put a rack of men's pants in the women's wear department. . . . But then the girls probably wouldn't buy — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I guess every high school, and maybe even junior highs, have this problem: Smoke-filled bathrooms.

It's got so bad that people who want to use these rooms for their real purposes — like washing your hands, etc., can't get near the basins; and even if they do manage to squeeze through the crowd, they're choked by cigarette smoke.

That's rough on non-smokers or those who have sworn off and don't want to be tempted.

Cigarettes are banned on school premises, but it would mean hiring an extra guard for each bathroom if the rule were enforced.

The kids can't smoke outside in plain sight or they'll get suspended, but it's generally assumed that washrooms are safe. Like a lot of other rules, if you break them in the right place, there's an unspoken agreement that you won't be bothered. Teachers can't be policemen.

Well, that's great for smokers, but it deprives the rest of us (the majority nowadays) of our rights. We suggested to our principal that he make a smoking room out of an unused classroom. "Illegal," he said, though he sympathized with our problem.

Any suggestions? — MALE MEMBER OF STUDENT COUNCIL

DEAR MEMBER:

It's true: Most schools these days can't effectively police cigarette use. So a compromise is the next best thing.

Why don't you students (unofficially) designate certain bathrooms for smokers only and make the others off limits? I'm sure you'll get quiet cooperation from teachers, even to occasional clean air checks in the latter (but not the former — another inducement).

(Yup, that's a cop-out to an unenforceable rule, but it's bet-

No Say On Office For Woman Worker

By JAMES F. COUR

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) —

The uprising of women seeking equal job rights gets the full support of one man, especially so far as equality of their office decor and space are concerned.

Ernest Jackson knows well the status of women in business. He should. He designs the buildings and the offices in which they spend their working days.

"There definitely is a woman's revolution coming about," said Jackson in an interview. "I even feel it at home. My wife is suddenly giving me a lot of static. In fact, she wants to know how come I know so much about the entire subject (of the women's liberation movement)."

But Jackson consults with the women whose firm serves them. He is chairman of the board of Latt, Jackson & Associates, Inc., a 13-year-old architectural services business which grossed $1.5 million last year.

JACKSON FEELS that the female office worker uses her office more than her male counterpart and should be consulted on its decoration.

But she usually is not. She is an afterthought in planning if she is thought of at all, says Jackson.

Some of Jackson's other observations:

—This condition exists in spite of the fact that women are vital to the successful operation of business, both as backup for executives and as emerging executives themselves.

—Their offices are in halls, corridors, et al, which are, for the most part, poorly lighted cramped and lacking in privacy.

"Women have a great deal of merit in their request for equal rights," Jackson said. "I know in our office we have requests from time to time for female draftsmen."

THE QUESTION always becomes one of a matter of sex first. Do we want a female draftsman? It's a situation that is difficult to overcome and I imagine most businesses greet the idea of a competent employee by sex only when the idea of a female appears on the scene."

Jackson has discovered, too, that women executives generally feel the need to submerge their femininity.

Unlike the male executive, the woman at or near the top usually displays little of her personality in decor. But a man's office says a great deal about him.

"When most women assume a position of prominence in business, they sort of maintain their offices as neutral ground," he said. "They try to keep the personal aspects subjugated. Their may be a flower or a picture of the children. That's about it."

As for the women at lower levels, these are the least mobile of the staff. They're there on the job day in and day out, he said. But the men come and go.

Jackson is black, but he says the fact he is a member of a minority doesn't have anything to do with the way he feels about the new feminism.

"Minority empathy never occurred to me," he said. "All I can think of is that I feel an empathy for anyone who feels that they are being misused and abused."

Smaller Budget For Food

In the United States, the portion of family income spent on food has been decreasing steadily even though actual food expenditures have risen, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Last year, 17 per cent of income was used for food. In 1960, by contrast, funds spent for food represented 20 per cent of income.

JOAN HAWKINS, left, and Mary Hueston, both behind-the-scene workers for the Mountain Play, check changes in the script of "Tamalpa," this year's production set for Sunday and May 24 at 2 p.m. at the outdoor theater on top of Mt. Tamalpais.

Busy Indeed Behind The Scenes

When Mrs. Joan Hawkins throws up her arms during the performances of this year's Mountain Play it won't be in despair but as a cue to the performers.

Mrs. Hawkins is one of the many behind-the-scene workers who are vital to the performances, yet far from the glamor and the applause.

"I've been with the Mountain Play for five years," Mrs. Hawkins says, "and the tradition behind it and the county-wide participation are an outstanding example of people working together."

IN ADDITION to serving as prompter the days of play, her tasks include checking with Dan Tothero, writer and director of this year's play, "Tamalpa" on script changes.

"It is a bit unusual to prompt on the mountain," she explains, "because of the size of the stage and the sound system. You can't whisper to the cast. You have to pantomime or make gestures to them."

Another one of the hundreds of volunteers who donate countless hours to the community effort is Mrs. Robert Hueston, who arranges many of the public relations jobs required for this type of production. She sets up shopping center appearances for cast members and makes sure they are at radio and television stations in time for interviews.

Both of the women, long experienced in Marin little theaters, have small parts in "Tamalpa."

MARY HUESTON appeared as Queen Elizabeth at the Marin Shakespeare Festival's Feast to Good Will. During five years with the festival she did much behind-the-scenes work, helping plan sets, painting and taking care of props. She worked on sets, sound and lighting with the Tiburon Cove Players.

Joan, acting with the Mountain Play since 1964, appeared in "Peer Gynt" and "Rough and Ready" on the mountain.

She has also appeared with the Cove Players.

"It is a tremendous opportunity to work with Dan Tothero," Joan says. "He is quite flexible in his script and often allows a cast member to make slight changes if it makes the individual feel more comfortable."

Mary and her husband, who are both members of the Mountain Play Association Board of Directors, are the parents of Lynne, 8, Jennifer Leigh, 5, and Robin Ann, 1 year old.

Joan's daughters are Joy and Jean, students at the college of Marin; JoAnn and Jan, who attend Sinaloa Junior High School; and June in kindergarten in Novato.

Both women feel a strong tie to the 53rd Mountain Play because of the tradition of the mountain and the enjoyment of watching an entire community take one project and work together making it a success.

Condominium Plan Draws Large Crowd

A large crowd came to watch but not to talk last night as the developer of a proposed condominium on Mill Valley's Warner Ridge appeared before the city's planning commission to fight for his 128-unit project. (Another planning commission story, page 1.)

William E. Cullen made a 45-minute presentation, illustrated with charts, a relief map and traffic flow plan that he said refuted arguments about inadequate access, sewerage and services to his development, raised at the commission's April 27 meeting.

Very few seats were vacant in the 160-person-capacity Mill Valley City Council Chambers as commissioners listened to the talk, questioned Cullen briefly and then voted unanimously to continue the matter until May 25 to allow them to study his data and receive reports from the city's fire chief, public works director and city engineer.

"I for one can't absorb all this material at one sitting," said Commissioner Paul E. Rosenthal. "I'd like to check his mathematics on a few things, but I like to do that in a corner by myself where I can erase my mistakes."

Commissioners seemed split on the development, which would cluster 117 condominium apartments and 11 single-family dwellings on 32 acres in Warner Canyon, north of Mill Valley. About three-quarters of the land would remain in permanent open space. The condominiums would sell for between $27,000 and $38,000. The single-family homes would sell for $65,000.

Cullen said, "Marin County is rapidly becoming a place where only the upper income family can afford to live. It's just too expensive for young families, the elderly, and the middle and low-income to own their own homes in this county."

His condominiums, he said, would be among the few dwellings available to persons with median incomes. No single-family dwelling less than $25,000 has been sold in the county since 1965, he said.

Cullen then presented data that he said showed the economic benefit to Mill Valley his development would bring—$14 million in tax revenues and services fees during the next 10 years.

Two weeks ago questions were raised about the ability of Mill Valley's sewage treatment plant to handle the sewage from Cullen's proposal. The developer presented charts that showed the flow from his project to be a small percentage of the capacity of the plant.

Turning to access, Cullen said that his property would be served by Upland Avenue, a narrow, twisting hillside street. "After adjustments, I estimate the maximum flow of traffic on this street would be 123 cars an hour at peak commute times," he said. "The street can carry 250 vehicles an hour."

Only once did the large audience make it clear that it opposed Cullen's development. At one point several persons began hissing, but the disruption was gavelled down by Chairman Robert E. Burton.

"I don't believe a decision should be left to a minority with a vested interest," Cullen concluded, referring to homeowners who were against his plan.

Commissioners discussed the matter briefly before they voted to continue the matter. Their comments indicated Cullen still faces much opposition before his project is approved.

"I doubt the streets are adequate to handle a density of 1.5, much less the four that he's asking for," said Commissioner Louis E. Bartolini.

Commissioner Sally Garoutte then moved that the matter be continued to May 25.

North Ridge Street Plan Is Delayed

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has decided to delay action on the North Ridge Major Street Plan until the Marin Conservation League has prepared a report on open space in Mill Valley, including North Ridge.

The commission voted last night to continue to July 13 consideration of the plan, which would tell the city how to move large numbers of vehicles in and out of the ridge area when it is developed.

The league is attempting to rally support behind a plan to raise funds to purchase the ridge for a permanent greenbelt.

The commission decided to hold hearings on the street plan but said it would not take action until the league presents its report, probably in six months.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission also:

SALE — Asked the city council to sell a 10-foot strip of land to the owners of Pat and Joe's Restaurant to build an addition, with the stipulation that public access be guaranteed.

RENAMING — Voted to hold a public hearing on renaming the Highway 101 frontage road, but set no date.

SCOTT VALLEY — Set a special meeting June 3 to discuss Scott Valley Terrace, a townhouse development rejected by the city council May 4.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to May 25 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Condemnation Suit Ordered By Council

The Petaluma City Council last night ordered condemnation proceedings to start on a corner property necessary to begin a street and sewer improvement project.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert told the council that negotiations with Victor De Carli, owner of the property at the north-west corner of Petaluma Boulevard North and Magnolia Avenue, had reached a stalemate.

He recommended that the city get a court order for immediate possession of the property so that street work could begin while negotiations continue.

City Engr. David A. Young said work should begin by June 1 so that the project can be completed by the start of school in September. The project includes the signalization of the intersection and 250 feet of widening and improvement work on Magnolia Avenue.

The work will also include a new sewer line beginning at Bridge Street up Petaluma Boulevard North and along the improved section of Magnolia Avenue.

Robert said he believed the order would be granted this week in Sonoma County Superior Court and that the council could award the contract for the work at its meeting next Monday.

Low bidder for the project was Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael at $154,464.

Robert said that if further negotiation fails to reach a selling price, it will have to be decided in court.

Voting in favor of the condemnation were Councilmen Albert L. Battaglia Jr., David W. Brainerd, Robert A. Brunner, Fred V. Mattei and Mayor Helen Putnam.

Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr., dissented, saying another appraisal should be brought into the negotiations. Councilman Philip L. Joerger stated because he owns property in the vicinity.

The council also approved a resolution calling for the retention of the state human resources development office, noting that closure would bring unnecessary hardships to customers of the office and economic harm to Petaluma.

Report Asked In Pot Case

The case of Brian Lee Gilbert, 19, of no known address, yesterday was referred to probation officers for a report on whether he is acceptable to Marin Juvenile Court.

Gilbert was arrested last Wednesday in a Novato motel room after the manager complained to police. Officers said he was smoking what appeared to be a marijuana cigarette and had a plastic bag of suspected pot.

He is to return to municipal court May 25.

Film Star Denies Paternity Claim

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Cary Grant, 66, denies he is the father of a girl born March 12 in Los Angeles to former writer Cynthia Bouron, 30.

The English-born master of light comedy filed his formal denial in Superior Court Monday. Miss Bouron's paternity action, filed on behalf of her daughter last week, asked that Grant be required to supply "reasonable support for Stephanie Andrea Grant."

The child's birth certificate bears Grant's name as father.

The actor has a daughter, Jennifer, 3, by his fourth marriage, to actress Dyan Cannon. They subsequently were divorced.

Guilty Plea To Stolen Property

Stanley Shroat, 31, of Clovis, Fresno County, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing stolen property.

Judge E. Warren McGuire dismissed another stolen property count and fined Shroat $400.

Shroat had earlier been acquitted by a jury of two counts of car theft but the jury was hung on the stolen property charges.

He was arrested in January, 1968, by the California Highway Patrol, which said that parts of two stolen Volkswagens had been sold by Shroat to a San Rafael auto shop.

Petaluma Chamber Elects United Crusade Directors

A board of directors for the United Crusade of Petaluma was elected yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce crusade nominating committee.

Elected to serve one-year terms were George Tomasini, Eugene Benedetti, Max Herzog, Lesly H. Meyer, Rollan Rea, Mrs. Albert L. Battaglia Jr.,

John Petersen, Rev. H. Bauch, Walter Roche, Robert McDonald, Royce Van Bebbler, Richard Brown, Clifford Bartlett Jr., Roger Pearson, James McCaffrey, Harold Mahoney, John Olmsted, Phillip Talamantes, Lucien Li-barle, Ross P. Game, E. W. Schneider, James Ordway, Arthur W. Parent, John J. King Jr., Arthur Agnew, Les Brians, John Lounibos and Maj. David K. McMillen.

The directors will meet next Thursday to select a chairman and prepare plans for the first United Crusade in Petaluma.

The chamber directors approved the United Crusade concept for Petaluma after a poll of members showed that most preferred the unified soliciting agency rather than a series of small fund drives.

Paint Attack On I-J Office

A jar of lavender paint was thrown against the window of the Novato office of the Independent-Journal last night, splattering the front of the building but failing to break the window.

It was the most recent in a series of attacks on I-J property since the newspaper was struck Jan. 7 by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Windows at the Novato office have been broken twice previously.

Thief Can't Resist The Bare Necessity

Five pairs of pants and two shirts, valued at $114, were stolen sometime Sunday night or Monday morning from the Bare Necessity Shop at 512 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, police said today.

Larkspur officers said the burglar entered the store by throwing a water meter cover through a front window and then reaching in and unlocking the door.

Probation, Jail In Drug Case

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Lee Roy Saunders, 33, of San Rafael, on two years' probation and gave him a 10-day jail sentence with credit for the time he had served.

The judge also ordered Saunders to submit to periodic testing to determine if he is using narcotics and told him not to carry a weapon of any kind.

Saunders had earlier pleaded guilty to possessing a hypodermic needle and carrying a switchblade knife on Aug. 19.

Strike Scope Talk Idles State Campus

Classes were suspended at Sonoma State College this morning as students gathered to decide the length and scope of their strike.

At a convocation of more than 2,000 students, faculty and staff members, a vote was to be taken this afternoon on how long to suspend class attendance for the strike aimed at ending the war.

President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. said yesterday that any decision made by the students could be accommodated under present college policy.

"Within these policies and procedures, and within the normal responsibilities of the faculty, there appears to be sufficient flexibility to permit each member of the Sonoma State College academic community to engage in those activities which express the level of his or her concern with the grave issues currently confronting our nation," Dr. Nichols said. "We believe it very important that each person decide for himself how he will complete the semester's work."

He said students wishing to stop their academic work or to engage in noncourse activities should confer with their professors to determine the options available to them.

In relation to criticism of minority hiring practices made at a convocation last week, Nichols said, the executive committee of the academic senate has asked professors Levell Holmes of the ethnic studies department and Robert Fuchigami of the education department to constitute a student-faculty committee to review the efforts of the departments of the college to recruit and appoint red, yellow, brown and black faculty members.

Registration for the fall semester which was disrupted by demonstrators last Tuesday will be resumed Monday and continue Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Students registering for the first time will be notified as to time and date.

Planners Set Special Area For Hospital

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—The Sonoma County Health Facilities Planning Commission last night designated the cities of Rohnert Park and Cotati as a separate planning area for hospital facilities.

Maurice Fredericks of Rohnert Park, a commission member, told the group that the cities had reached sufficient population to be considered separately from the Petaluma and Santa Rosa planning areas.

In the past, the Rohnert Park Hospital Foundation had not been able to receive approval of hospital plans because the population of Rohnert Park and Cotati had been divided between districts in the other two cities.

The county commission said a six-man board of directors will be established to study hospital planning for the new district. Four of the directors will be members of the county commission with the Rohnert Park and Cotati city councils each appointing a member.

Named to the group from the county commission were Fredericks, George Trefer of Sebastopol, George Meek of Sonoma and Stanley Arata of Healdsburg.

Peace Coalition Keeps Marin Campus Quiet

The strike at College of Marin continued today in identical fashion to its start yesterday, with students handing out leaflets and a few blocking entrances to the library and classroom buildings.

Students blocking doors are not Students for Democratic Society, as erroneously reported in the Independent-Journal yesterday, but most appear to be members of Marin Liberation Front. Most of the antiwar strike efforts are being directed by the Marin Peace Coalition, which is stressing nonviolence.

No incident or confrontation was reported this morning.

The Marin Peace Coalition may be a straw in the wind, a flash in the pan or the wave of the future — it's too early to tell.

But it was plain yesterday at College of Marin that the coalition and its nonviolent policies of protest have gathered more adherents than any activist group in the past.

Coalition headquarters at the Newman Center just off the college campus was alive with a steady stream of students, faculty members and others seeking roles in the college strike which began yesterday and is to end tomorrow.

The campus and nearby streets were thick with young people wearing the coalition's white armbands with blue dove emblems, handing out leaflets to passing motorists and pedestrians protesting the expansion of the Vietnam war into Cambodia.

In the center, tables were set up with maps of central, southern and northern Marin, with students assigning volunteers to each area and pointing out on which streets they should hand out information.

A half-dozen more people worked in the rear of the building painting strike posters, surrounded by a rubble of cigarette butts, spilled coffee, spilled paint and paper scraps. Nearby workers handed out coffee and snacks from a kitchen counter.

"The rally on the lawn has started early," a voice said over the address system. "We need coalition people to go over there to give our viewpoint because we're outnumbered."

At the rally, a more militant group — the Marin Liberation Front, with purple armbands reading "Free Bobby" — asked the gathering crowd to move onto campus, live there full time and shut it down.

The rally quickly became a rambling discussion of tactics, goals and means for the student movement between differing activists. One member of Students for a Democratic Society insisted that the first priority must be freeing Black Panthers now imprisoned, but other speakers said stopping the war and oppression of Panthers and others in this country are all one cause.

The student audience of several hundred finally voted on whether to sleep in on campus last night or not, and not a hand was raised in favor of the sleep-in. The audience supported plans for a rally at 7 a.m. today, and to complete the three-day strike before deciding whether to continue it or take further steps against the war.

The vote was not necessarily pro-coalition, but it was a put-down of the militant proposal to escalate the protest immediately.

Indirectly, it seemed to indicate that the coalition — an ad hoc group formed since the invasion of Cambodia — has struck a nonviolent course of protest which many more at College of Marin will follow than have backed more militant groups. Student and faculty participation appeared to be near the numbers reached in last fall's one-day moratorium marches, and the sustained activity this week seems to indicate an even deeper disturbance of the campus status quo.

Two cited in Car-Cycle Crash

Thomas Edmund Gilboy, 51, of 11 Rancheria Road, Kentfield, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with two fractured vertebrae and a broken finger on his left hand sustained yesterday in a collision in San Rafael.

According to police Gilboy's motorcycle collided with a car driven by Albert William Josephs, 34, of 34 Grove Street, San Rafael, at the intersection of D Street and San Rafael Avenue at 6:15 p.m.

Gilboy was cited for driving without a valid driver's license in his possession and Josephs for failing to yield the right-of-way to through traffic, police said.

Cash Taken

Burglars who broke into Strawberry Point School sometime last weekend stole $16 in cash from a classroom, sheriff's deputies said today.

School Tax Vote Talked In Lagunitas

The Lagunitas School District board last night discussed the June 2 tax ceiling increase election, and held open the status of the district librarian's position until after the election, according to Supt. Marshall J. McCuniff.

With the exception of the librarian, the district last night offered contracts for next year to all of the present teaching staff.

In its discussion of the election, the board noted that absentee ballots are now available at the county clerk's office and urged district voters who may be out of town June 2 to vote early.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

DRUGS — Received a report on its drug abuse program. The series of speakers for teachers has been completed, McCuniff reported, while the series for parents is continuing on Wednesday evening.

APPLICATION — Authorized an application for state funds for a remedial education program. The district received $13,000 for the program this year.

MEETING — Adjourned to its next regular meeting May 25.

Hicks Elected To Air Board

Sausalito City Councilman Wyman Hicks was elected yesterday to succeed John A. Miskimen as a Marin representative on the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District Board.

Hicks, a Sonoma State College professor, lives at 118 Central Avenue. He was elected by the City Selection Committee, composed of mayors of each city.

Hicks received 7 votes to 2 for Byron D. White, Corte Madera city councilman.

Hicks will serve on the pollution board for four years. Miskimen, whose term will expire on May 31, did not seek reappointment.

Marin's other representative on the air pollution board is William A. Gnos, representing the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Man Sentenced For Entering

Martin Johnson, 37, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a reduced charge of unlawfully entering an occupied building. He had earlier been charged with burglarizing a Sausalito residence on Nov. 19.

Judge E. Warren McGuire sentenced Johnson to 60 days in jail with credit to be given for the time he has already served.

Two codefendants were tried on the charge, with one, Emmet Maiden, 42, of Vallejo, acquitted, and the other, Michael Gerald Abrams, 30, of San Francisco, convicted.

Develop Main Library, Consultant Tells City

San Rafael should build no branch library until its present library is expanded to the maximum possible on the site, a consultant told the San Rafael Library Board last night.

Further study is necessary to determine the future library program and the extent to which it can be served from the central facility on E Street at Mission Avenue, said Donald R. Hegstrom, managing director of the Consulting Organization.

Hegstrom also recommended against starting bookmobile service immediately.

"The next phase should concentrate on the optimum future use of the present central facility and consider additional facilities only in relation to it," he said in the final report of a $3,000 study of library use.

The library board, chaired by Ella Mae Minneman in the absence of president Eleanor G. Murray, who is ill, voted to ask that $7,000 be added to the fiscal 1970-71 library budget to carry the study to the point where an architect could be hired to design whatever expansion is decided.

The board agreed also to discuss with the city council adding to the library tax rate (which is 11 cents per $100 assessed valuation this year) in order to build up a fund toward the expansion. City Mgr. James

H. McCown, who attended the meeting, said each cent on the tax rate brings in $13,195.

"The principal problem with the library today is that it simply does not have adequate space in which to carry on an adequate program," said Hegstrom.

He noted that Marin County is planning branch libraries of 11,000 to 23,000 square feet, while the San Rafael Library has only 10,800 square feet of floor space.

Despite its space restrictions, the San Rafael Library is providing service comparable to other libraries in its population group, Hegstrom reported. Following up an earlier report in which he found library circulation per capita had declined since 1961, he reported that the present circulation is second only to Livermore among California cities in the 30,000-40,000 population class.

In fiscal 1969, according to figures from the state, the Livermore library had per capita circulation of 9.1 volumes compared to San Rafael's 7.1. In third place was Beverly Hills with 7.0.

Livermore's library budget per capita was $4.48; San Rafael's $4.30, and Beverly Hills', $7.47.

Hegstrom's organization had not completed an analysis of questionnaires filled out by library patrons in time for last night's meeting, but he said it would be presented later at a supplement to the first phase study.

Board Sets Session On Sewer Bonds

The formal report on financing needed to upgrade sanitary facilities was received last night by the Novato Sanitary District Board from its consultants Bartle Wells and Associates, according to engineer-manager Charles A. Joseph.

The board set 6 p.m. next Tuesday in the district office for a study session of the bond proposal, according to Joseph.

The consultants suggested a $5.8 million bond issue. However, if the federal government grants the $1.2 million request by the district, the bond issue would be $4.6 million, Joseph said.

The Novato Sanitary District Board also:

DEBRIS BOXES — Requested that representatives of Grange Debris Box Rentals of San Rafael attend the board meeting at 6 p.m. at the North Marin County Water District because that firm has been leasing the boxes in Novato, a violation of the franchise of the Novato Disposal Service.

EXTENSIONS — Approved plans for main extensions for the Oaks Unit 1 of 71 lots in Marin Highlands, Alameda Del Prado apartments of 96 units and Bahia Del Norte unit 3 of 24 lots on Topaz Drive.

SCOTTSDALE — Accepted the sewers and pumps station at the Scottsdale development.

BILLS — Paid $11,336 in bills and $11,015 in salaries.

Misses Cash

A thief who stole $10 from a drawer Sunday or yesterday at Fotomat Discount Drive Thru at 535 Third Street left $42 behind. San Rafael police reported today. The money was in an envelope inside the drawer, police said.

Adventure In Cambodia, And Promises Of Past

The first units of American troops sent into Cambodia should be withdrawn back to Vietnam tomorrow according to the time-table President Nixon announced at his televised press conference last Friday night.

All will be withdrawn by June 30, the President promised.

Thus the foray into Cambodia will be a hit-and-withdraw operation and will protect Americans and Vietnamese in South Vietnam rather than extending the war, Mr. Nixon insisted.

We hope all this proves true. We do not doubt that it is the President's intention.

BUT LEST we forget . . .

Long ago when American "advisers" were sent into South Vietnam to assist in training the army of Ngo Dinh Diem's government, it was not planned that the United States should engage in war there.

On March 16, 1962, responding to reporter's questions, then-Secy. of Defense Robert S. McNamara said: "The Americans (in Vietnam) are under instructions not to fire unless fired upon, and this is the basic rule of engagement as it relates to our forces in Vietnam."

THE FIRST U.S. casualty on the ground in Vietnam was reported June 14, 1962, when a military spokesman in Saigon announced that an American army sergeant had been killed and two other Americans wounded in a combat operation with Vietnamese troops near the Laotian frontier.

Although the role of U.S. troops in Vietnam continued to be that of "advisers," more casualties followed. Still, it was not an American war.

On Feb. 13, 1963; then-Secy. of State Robert S. McNamara said: "I personally believe this is a war the Vietnamese must fight . . . I don't believe we can take on the combat task for them."

THE FIGHTING continued. The number of American casualties gradually increased. But on Oct. 21, 1964, the line was still the same. On that day, President Lyndon B. Johnson declared in a campaign speech: "We are not about to send American boys nine or 10 thousand miles away from home to do what Asian boys ought to be doing themselves."

It didn't work out as planned. We did send American boys — millions of them over the last five years, with more than half a million there at the time President Nixon assumed office.

MR. NIXON has tried to reverse the trend. He has reduced the number of American troops in Vietnam. He has adopted a policy of "Vietnamizing" the war so insidiously changed from a Vietnamese war to an American war.

But in sending American troops into Cambodia to clean out enemy sanctuaries, he risked a reversal of this policy.

He has assured us none will remain there beyond June 30. He has insisted that the forays assure continued withdrawal from Vietnam.

But we should not forget those other assurances — in 1962, in 1963, in 1964, and in so many optimistic but unrealistic predictions since then.

Up to now, very little in Southeast Asia seems to have happened as it was planned in Washington.

Hospital Plan Not Abandoned

Regarding your headline: "Master Plan Scrapped For Marin Hospital" in the April 29, edition, the article, including the headline, is somewhat inaccurate and misleading.

As architects for Marin General Hospital, Rex Whitaker Allen and Associates presented a master plan for expansion to 500 beds in two stages in 1966 based on the program requirements of that time. Our cost estimate for stage 1 dealing with approximately 120,000 square feet of ancillary facilities and 30,000 square feet of nursing units was around $6.7 million for construction and around $8.9 million for the total project (including equipment and other additional costs). These costs were based on 1966 figures. An escalation of about 10 per cent per year should be allowed so that, if contracts were to be let in 1972, 60 per cent should be added to the $8.9 million figure, bringing it to approximately $14 million.

Obviously, since 1966 new ideas have occurred, trends have changed, medical and construction technology have developed and it would be totally irresponsible to implement a four-year-old concept without re-evaluating it.

Your article contains the following inaccuracies:

1. The board did not "fore-sake" the master plan, but merely directed the architects to re-evaluate it.
2. The board did not direct the architects to develop a new "construction plan".
3. The total project cost in 1966 would have been $8.9 million and not $6.6 million.
4. The projected construction cost of $14 million was for 1972, not for 1973.
5. Mr. Allen did not call for "one floor" to be used solely for utility equipment, but mentioned the possible use of several "systems floors" which would provide greater flexibility for future remodeling.

Champagne Case: Defendant's Version

I wish to respond to the inaccurate reporting in the April 30 I-J concerning the "Champagne tossing" trial.

First, your reporter implied that I made my public apology to Miss Popowski because of fear of a "criminal record". I made this apology, according to your reporter, after a lengthy session in the judge's chambers. Nonsense! In the first place, I was never in the judge's chambers. Secondly, I at no time have had a reluctance about apologizing to Miss Popowski, and would have long ago had not the DA's office filed formal charges against me. Lastly, I at no time had a fear of a criminal record since I cannot imagine an intelligent court finding anything of a criminal nature in what I did. I responded to Miss Popowski's conduct in a manner directed at restraining her provocative actions and preventing any injury to several older citizens seated nearby.

I made my public apology to Miss Popowski because the judge indicated to me and to both the prosecuting and defense attorneys before the bench that he considered the trial to be a travesty and a waste of taxpayers' moneys. He wanted the trial ended as soon as possible . . .

Permit me to make one final statement for the record. I have not and do not owe Miss Popowski any money. Your reporter, although careful to print the allegation that I owe Miss Popowski money, was also careful not to print Miss Popowski's admission under cross-examination that she had never bothered to file a claim for the alleged debt in the two years following the gallery opening (when the debt was allegedly incurred) . . .

Humane Society Promptness Praised

Please let me express, through you, my appreciation to the Humane Society.

On Sunday, May 3, a riderless runaway horse in a panic ran in front of a car in Lucas Valley Road, behind our house. The horse was badly injured, and I called the Humane Society. Although it was a Sunday afternoon, an official of the society called me within five minutes and assured me that he would arrive within 10 minutes, and he did.

Upon his arrival, he examined the horse thoroughly and determined that it could not survive. He asked all youngsters to leave, and then shot it, as he had to. Later, I heard him telling someone about damage to the spine, etc.

It was a great relief to those of us who hated to see an animal suffer so terribly, that a telephone call could bring a person who could understand the extent of damage to the horse, could understand the feelings of the youngsters nearby, and could do what was necessary to relieve the situation.

Judge Must Not Scoff At Law

It is difficult to choose one out of the 13 candidates now running for municipal Judge. Obvious violations of our state laws does, in my opinion, reduce the number to choose from.

I will not vote for any of the candidates for judge who knowingly violated the law by putting up signs on the rights of way of state highways. A judge must not scoff the law.

Nixon Yields To The Generals In Adventure Into Cambodia

WASHINGTON — While the nature of the pressure on the President to invade Cambodia was different — ostensibly to insure the success of his Vietnamization program — that pressure was not new. It has recurred in waves for at least four or five years and previous policymakers, both in the Pentagon and in State, have been steadfast in their opposition to the generals.

They were convinced that by enlarging the war and violating Cambodia's tenuous neutrality the United States would only be drawn more deeply into the quagmire. The reluctance or the inability of President Nixon's civilian advisers to oppose the generals says a lot about the changes that have taken place in little more than a year. Civilian authority has been seriously eroded. Sec. of State William P. Rogers finds himself in an acutely embarrassing dilemma, having told a congressional committee only a few days before the President took his decision that invading Cambodia would put an end to Vietnamization.

ROGERS' predecessor, Dean Rusk, has been denounced as a hawk who simply underwrote the Lyndon Johnson policy of escalation. But the record shows that on at least two occasions Rusk stood out against the pressure of the generals for invading Cambodia. Similarly, Sec. of Defense Robert S. McNamara fought constantly to keep civilian control over policy decisions. It is worth recounting the record to show what it meant to have advisers convinced that the founding fathers were right when they wrote civilian authority into the Constitution.

Four years ago Maj. Gen. (since promoted to Lt. Gen.) Stanley R. Larsen returned to the Pentagon from his command in South Vietnam and gave a startling on-the-record interview. He said about 10,000 North Vietnamese troops were massed in Cambodia for a threatened drive across the border.

Brezhnev Doctrine Leaves No Choice But Moscow's

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has laid down the pattern of its future strategy toward its Communist friends and foes.

The Kremlin formalized it in the new so-called "Friendship Treaty" with Czechoslovakia, which Moscow chiefs signed in Prague in the first week of May.

The new strategy, which will apply to most Communist countries in the future, claims the right for the Kremlin to intervene where socialist achievement appear in danger. Moscow will decide whether such emergency exists.

THIS IS the formalization of the "Brezhnev Doctrine," first advanced by party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev at the time of the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia in August, 1968, but since repeatedly denied, by Russia.

The right of intervention would seem to extend not only to Russia's immediate allies in the Warsaw Pact but to other countries once they have embraced communism, even though they may now be at odds with Moscow.

In other words, Moscow once again formally claims the leadership of the world Communist camp. The Kremlin renounced the claim to being the "center" of the world movement some time ago, but apparently has revived its claim.

MOSCOW'S NEW strategy, moreover, demands support from its allies in the Warsaw Pact outside as well as inside Europe—the Warsaw Pact defense area. It wants their support wherever conflict arises in which Russia considers itself under attack. That could apply to Red China.

Warsaw Pact countries have resisted so far Russian pressures to commit themselves on the side of Russia against Peking by providing token forces

When McNamara learned about the interview he was furious. The Defense Department promptly issued a denial of any knowledge of a sizable Communist buildup in Cambodia. A similar denial came from Rusk.

IN EARLY 1968 Chester Bowles, then ambassador to India, got an urgent message ordering him to return to New Delhi from southern India where he was traveling. On returning to the capital he was instructed to go on an immediate mission to Phnom Penh to confer with the ruler, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, on Cambodia's neutrality.

Bowles believes then that the urgency of the mission was related to military pressure for an invasion of the so-called sanctuaries in Cambodia. The suggestion for the talks, it was learned later, had come from Sihanouk on the basis of reports that the Americans were planning "hot pursuit" across the Cambodian border to run down North Vietnam-Vietcong troops taking refuge there.

On Jan. 12 Bowles and Cambodian Premier Son Sann signed a joint communique setting forth terms of agreement on preventing Cambodia from being drawn into the war. Bowles "renewed American assurances of respect for Cambodian sovereignty, neutrality and territorial integrity." But at the same time he stressed that he could not guarantee against accidental intrusion wholly unrelated to a set policy of "hot pursuit."

FOR HIS PART Sihanouk said that he would send his troops to "request the Vietcong to leave Cambodian territory" on receipt of evidence of infiltration. The naïveté of this statement is a perfect illustration of Sihanouk's ambiguous and mercurial temperament.

He probably didn't believe it himself. But it has been only through his juggling act that Cambodia stayed out of the war for so long.

Now in exile in Peking, Sihanouk is playing the Communist game.

for Soviet East Eastern defenses.

Finally, Moscow claims a commitment from its allies to "socialist economic integration." This has been resisted by East European Communist countries in COMECON, the Communist economic alliance in Europe. The new Russian-Czechoslovak treaty points the way which Moscow now intends to go, namely economic integration with Moscow as the center of overall planning.

Czechoslovakia, now under the control of about 70,000 Russian troops, has little choice. Prague's new leadership has signed. The others in the Warsaw Pact can have little illusion about the future course they are expected to follow.

TWO SOCIALIST countries have not missed the message.

Romania, a member of the Warsaw Pact, has lost little time in telling Moscow it will not bow to the new Soviet strategy concept. Romania insists on undivided sovereignty.

Yugoslavia, which left the bloc in 1948, has registered its defiance by resuming diplomatic relations with Peking and joining Red China's latest Far Eastern policy in Indochina.

COUNTRY PARSON

A 14-Inch Odor

These lovely spring and summer nights in Marin are sometimes made less so by the infusion of skunk fragrance into the air. Friends of ours, who have a "naughty little skunk" visit them from time to time and leave his olfactory calling card, give us this hint on clearing the air.

They say take a piece of twine and burn it and presto! No more skunk smell. Needless to say, this will be of no help in case of a direct hit.

Perhaps this technique will enable us to gauge the ferocity of skunk aroma. Depending upon the length of twine needed to kill the smell, we could have a sliding scale from three inches to two feet. Anything over a 14-inch odor is worthy of a smog alert.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Senator Has Some Plain Words For Those Worried By Pollution

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR
SACRAMENTO (CNS) — State Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point, has some general observations on the battle against pollution and the hypocrites it is engendering.

"I have been receiving," he says, "More and more correspondence lately expressing a growing concern over the deterioration of our environment. Most of the letters ask 'what can I do?'"

"I cannot think of a more appropriate situation for using the old saying 'Money talks,' than applying it to the current war on pollution. It will take vast amounts of money from special districts, cities, counties, the state and federal governments to provide the new sewage and water treatment facilities and fund the enforcement agencies which will be required to see that we clean our land, water and air and keep it that way.

"ALL THAT MONEY, whether it is in the form of special district taxes, bond issues, loans or grants, will have to come from the people. But the money situation is also tied very closely to the biggest polluters, and some day soon, many people may have to make the choice between clean air and water or losing the community's major employer and taxpayer.

"How many people will be willing to call for, enact and then enforce local regulations which might mean losing the town's only industry, will be the real moments of truth in the fight to save the environment."

"That is when money really talks!"

"LAST YEAR, we passed the most stringent water quality control regulations in the nation. This year, we really started enforcing them, and look what happened."

"San Francisco, it was discovered, was dumping millions of gallons of poorly treated sewage into its famous bay. The state, armed with water control laws with teeth, told the city to correct its faulty sewage treatment facilities or face a building moratorium."

"The city responded by saying, in effect, it was worried about pollution, it was going to do something about it, but it could not afford to lose the millions of dollars in new city construction that a building moratorium would halt. Money talks!"

"FOR THOSE who want to know what to do to help us in the fight against pollution, I suggest they think long and hard about the cost."

"Picking up beer cans along the highways is going to be much easier than convincing your local government that they are going to have to tell the town's only factory to cut down on air pollution or shut down."

Two Colleges With Affinity: Sonoma State And Kent State

Sonoma State College students expressed their outrage and abhorrence of the murders at Kent State University in Ohio as did students at other schools.

The same feelings have been echoed at many colleges across the country, but perhaps with less intensity. Those who know both Sonoma State and Kent State would understand why.

ALTHOUGH the campuses are thousands of miles apart, they may as well be sister schools.

At both colleges there exists a free thinking attitude sparked by a large degree of tolerance. Students at both are extremely individualistic and have continually refused to be drawn into groups like Students for a Democratic Society.

While each has a small minority of students capable of violence, the overwhelming majority are there for an education. This learning is not limited to the classroom at either college, with students taking active roles in politics and campaigns to better their world either through anti-war activities or running for city councils.

IN BOTH Kent, Ohio and Rohnert Park the students and the communities are at odds. Students and city residents do not relate or make much effort to do so.

Shopkeepers in Kent as in Rohnert Park treat students as second class citizens, nearly always giving them the iciest of customer service.

Perhaps the closest tie would be through their respective presidents. It is highly unlikely that Sonoma President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. has ever met Kent President Robert I. White, but those who know both would expect an immediate meeting of the minds.

Both tall and greying, the men give fully of themselves to their jobs and have enough confidence in their students to give them responsibility.

IN EACH CASE, the students have not always lived up to this responsibility, as is evident in the defiant Sonoma State newspaper and the burning of the ROTC building at Kent.

Both Nichols and White have been berated by the public for giving in to the students. Neither feels guilty of the offense. At Sonoma State, Nichols has resigned, but in Ohio the citizens fired Gov. James A. Rhodes instead. In neither case has there been a close association between the presidents and governors.

When Sonoma State students declared mourning for the dead students and renamed their school "Kent State West," they may have been closer to the truth than any of them realize.

Those who have often walked both campuses, as have I, know why.

Orchestra To Play Friday

The Dominican College Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Richard Anastasio, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Friday in Angelico Hall on the San Rafael campus.

The program will include Mozart's Concerto in C major, K. 415, with Lynn Gratonik as piano soloist; Dvorak's Concerto in B minor, Op. 104, with cellist Jed Barahal as soloist. The program will conclude with the Beethoven Symphony No. 1 in C major, Op. 26.

Miss Gratonik of San Rafael is a senior at Dominican. Barahal, 14, also of San Rafael, is a student of Richard Anastasio. He plays cello with the San Rafael High School and Marin Youth orchestras and is a recent winner of the Maurice Wilk Scholarship Awards at Dominican.

Sausalito Having Fewer Fires But Amount Of Losses Is Rising

There were fewer fires in Sausalito last year than in 1968, but the amount of loss caused by the blazes rose considerably, according to the annual report of Chief Charles E. Masten.

Firemen were called to put out 126 fires in 1969, compared with 132 the previous year. The chief said $114,643 worth of property was lost to fire in 1969, up from 1968 totals of $63,784.

Three persons died in fires in the city last year, the chief reported.

Louise Harrington, 65, died as the result of burns received in a January 9 fire at 34 Curry Lane and Elizabeth Smith, 58, died in a Jan. 31 fire at 63 Central Avenue. A month-old infant, Edward Lacey, perished March 3 in a blaze at 210 Second Street.

There were no fire fatalities in 1968.

The fire department made a total of 624 responses last year, up from 512 responses the previous year. Ambulance calls were up 59 per cent, from 130 to 207, according to Masten.

The department made six rescue calls, 103 investigations, 46 smoke checks, 96 miscellaneous calls and responded to 33 false alarms.

In the interest of fire prevention, firemen made 341 inspections of businesses, 211 checks of dwellings, 38 in industrial plants and 48 inspections of schools, Masten said.

Firemen spent 6,323 hours in practical fire training and 1,417 hours in classroom training.

The chief said the department lost three members in the last year, two leaving to take other jobs and one being fired for misconduct. All have been replaced, but the chief noted "it is difficult to operate efficiently with new or inexperienced personnel."

"I expect this problem to continue until the city becomes competitive in its salary and working conditions," Masten said.

Applebaum Plan Solves Problem Of Gradual Vietnamization

WASHINGTON — Despite President Nixon's and Vice President Agnew's attempts "to bring us together," the country still seems to be divided on the Vietnam and Cambodia issues.

There is, among young people, a lack of confidence in President Nixon's methods of disengaging us from Southeast Asia. On the other hand, the majority of Americans still support the President's hard-line strategy, particularly since they don't have to go.

PROF. HEINRICH Applebaum, of the Institute of Retribution and Conciliation, has formulated a plan that may satisfy both groups in this country.

The professor told me, "My studies show that there are far more people in this country who are for what Nixon is doing in Vietnam than are opposed."

"That's wonderful." "The only trouble is that the people who are the President's strongest supporters are too old to be drafted into the Army."

"It figures," I said. "What is your plan?"

"MY PLAN is very simple. We must make it possible for those who are for us being in Indochina to go there and fight, and those who are opposed to us being there to come home."

"You mean we should raise the age limit for men to be drafted into the service?"

"Not raise it. Abolish all age requirements so anyone who believes in the war can ship out immediately."

"What an ingenious plan!"

"MY STUDIES," the professor said, "have indicated that there are hundreds of thousands of people who have said to our young citizens, 'I only wish I were your age so I could fight.' The Applebaum plan makes it possible for these people to get their wish."

"But maybe they didn't mean it," I protested. "Maybe they just said it to make the kids feel better."

"Of course they meant it. Do you know of one person who wouldn't give up his soft job if he could slog through the rice paddies of the Mekong Delta?"

"It's hard to think of one," I admitted.

"THE BEAUTY of my plan is that you would have a tough determined type of soldier who would go right into the breach, without question."

"Just as in the Charge of the Light Brigade," I said excitedly.

"Eventually, the U. S. Army would only be composed of people who sincerely believed that what we were doing in Indochina was correct."

"You could call it the 'Love America or Leave It Brigade,'" I said. "How do you plan to recruit these people once the age requirements are waived?"

"We'll ask for volunteers. If that doesn't work, we'll go through President Nixon's mail. Anyone who wrote supporting his policies would automatically be drafted."

"PROFESSOR Applebaum, you have come up with the most brilliant solution to an untenable situation. The way you describe it indicates that no one could object to your plan."

"It's foolproof, if I must say so myself," said Professor Applebaum. "With the men who support Nixon manning the front lines and the men who oppose him back here in the states, we could stay in Vietnam for 20 years, and no one would give a damn."

Behr Defends Farm Aide Against Bruce

Peter H. Behr, candidate for the GOP nomination for state senator from the Fourth District, says he opposes a plan by Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce to close the county farm adviser's office or merge it with another county bureau.

Behr, speaking at a coffee in Novato, noted that the office performs "valuable service" to ranchers and dairymen in Marin and that although it contributed "significantly to county taxes, it would seem not only unfair to eliminate the office, but 'penny wise and pound foolish.'"

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Strained Eyes Like Tired Arm: No Permanent Damage Likely

Have you ever tried holding a pencil a fraction of an inch over a point on a piece of paper without resting the hand on the table? The muscles involved become strained and fatigued, especially if you try to be precise and steady.

This maneuver is difficult to do while sitting at a desk and would be twice as hard while riding in a moving vehicle.

Ocular muscles undergo similar strain (asthenopia) when called upon to focus on letters and words while reading on a bus or by a dim light. The eyes work as a team, and frequent or difficult adjustments are necessary to see clearly under adverse conditions.

IT IS ALSO TIRING to the eyes to read for a long time in a strained position, especially when the lighting is inadequate. Glare may also create eyestrain.

The end result is aching eyeballs combined with fatigue, headache, and irritability.

There may also be a heavy sense of pressure in the brow, temples, and back of the head. Similar symptoms may also follow too much TV, often due to concentrating on a flickering picture. The same takes place when a person naps, but does not wear glasses.

BUT THE EYE MUSCLES and retina suffer no more from strain than do the muscles of the arm and hand when holding a pencil over a point. There is no permanent damage nor does the person need glasses.

In some persons eyestrain is, in reality, mental fatigue, caused by reading something of little or no interest. The individual may be able to read a best seller for hours without straining the eyes so long as he is interested. Give him a dull book and soon the vision begins to blur.

DISCOMFORT ON READING calls for an eye examination. There is no doubt that eyestrain develops more quickly when a refractive error exists or the individual is cross-eyed. Congestion of the conjunctiva may do the same.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SPOON NAILS

A. R. writes: Our 9-year-old daughter has had spoon nails since age 5. The doctor is vague whenever I ask him about the condition. Do you think there is any cure?

REPLY

Possibly, but this depends upon the cause. The hereditary type cannot be corrected, whereas there is some hope when the abnormality is caused by infection, eczema, anemia, or the

Railroads Press Freight Fee Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's railroads have cited a sharp decline in earnings in urging the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) grant them a 6 per cent freight rate increase.

"Serious deterioration of railroad earnings reported for the first quarter of 1970 and the further shrinking of railroad revenue margins in this recent period only serve to emphasize more the precarious financial situation and outlook of this industry," the Association of American Railroads said in a statement filed with the ICC.

Net railway operating income fell from $142 million in the first quarter of 1969 to $60 million this year, the statement said.

Dog Show Course Starts Wednesday

Another eight-week course teaching dog owners how to show their purebred pets in dog show conformation competition will begin at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Marin County Humane Society headquarters on Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Novato.

The Marin County Dog Training Club sponsors the class, which is taught by American Kennel Club licensed handler and trainer Phyllis Greer of Novato.

Isaac L. Jones, 40, asked the court Monday to appoint him administrator of the estate, saying he married Miss Stevens in Tijuana, Mexico, in 1961. County Public Administrator Baldo Kristovich opposed the claim, saying there was no evidence of the marriage.

Jones' lawyer, Leo Branton Jr., said Miss Stevens and Jones kept the marriage secret from all except a few close friends and associates to protect the actress' career.

Marriage Claim Snarls Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The $162,500 estate of Inger Stevens will remain unsettled pending a Superior Court decision on the claim of a Negro businessman that he married the blonde actress nine years ago.

Miss Stevens, 36, died April 30 after being found unconscious in her Hollywood Hills home. The coroner blamed an overdose of barbiturates.

Isaac L. Jones, 40, asked the court Monday to appoint him administrator of the estate, saying he married Miss Stevens in Tijuana, Mexico, in 1961. County Public Administrator Baldo Kristovich opposed the claim, saying there was no evidence of the marriage.

Jones' lawyer, Leo Branton Jr., said Miss Stevens and Jones kept the marriage secret from all except a few close friends and associates to protect the actress' career.

TV PREVIEW

Middle-Aged Due A Happy Summer Hour

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The best CBS-TV variety show of the season was held behind closed doors in Los Angeles last week.

It did, however, serve as a preview for a summer series, "Happy Days," that will bow in on the network June 25.

And if the series is as good as the preview, the middle-aged generation may spend part of the summer swooning and jitterbugging.

A GENERATION AGO

And the younger generation may get a clue as to what turned on its parents back in the 1930s and 1940s.

For "Happy Days" will be a weekly one-hour entry reprising the comedy and music of those years, bringing back top acts.

As for that show behind closed doors last week, it was held at a banquet for representatives for CBS affiliate stations.

And considering the general age span of these representatives, there could not have been a better choice for entertainment.

The kids should have seen the middle-aged folks at the banquet cheer, sigh and rock to the rhythm in their seats as the old name acts were introduced and performed.

LIFE, STILL

There's life in the old gang yet. And the best part of the show was simply to prove again that good music holds up, regardless of how old it is.

Today's younger generation will be very happy to remember that lesson in about 20 years.

Well, anyway, the host for the show was Tim Conway, and he was very good, smoothing over the weak spots so they were minor.

He did his preliminaries, and suddenly there was a big band blasting off with "Two O'clock Jump," and jitterbuggers cavorting.

Then, in the style of the old band announcers at remote locations for radio programs, he was introducing Tex Beneke and The Modernaires.

And the audience was in seventh heaven as Beneke and the Modernaires launched a medley — "Don't Sit Under The Apple Tree," "Moonlight Serenade," "String of Pearls," "Moonlight Cocktails" and a "Chattanooga Choo Choo."

BENNY, BOWES

Well, friends, there was a radio simulation of a Fred Allen-Jack Benny comedy exchange. And a takeoff of Major Bowes' amateur hour with the usual imitation of Shirley Temple.

And Bob and Ray doing a "Doctor I.Q." quiz show. And then came the night's showstopper.

Out came Peter Graves of "Mission: Impossible," of all people, and in his hand was a clarinet. And, with the big band behind him, he brought down the house by tooling the Artie Shaw rendition of "Begin the Beguine."

BERGEN, MCCARTHY

After that came Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, and Alan Copeland singing "Marie."

And then more showstoppers: Bob Eberle reviving the swoon-getter "Marin Elena," and then teaming into "Who Cares?" And Lionel Hampton coming on at the vibes, drums and piano with a rousing solo performance

49er Interest
On The Upswing

JIM SHORTS:
San Francisco 49er president Lou Spadia reports the 23 per cent increase in the club's season ticket renewals is attributable to "... the fact that Candlestick Park is very much a part of our future and the interest in the new league and new teams on our schedule. More important is the fact that we have made some positive moves to strengthen the team itself" by trade and draft.

Meanwhile, across the bay, the Oakland Raiders have announced a virtual sellout of all season tickets.

The Raiders also announced that their highlight film of 1969 entitled "Pride and Poise... The Story of the 1969 Oakland Raiders," is now available for club, school and group showings if you'll contact Miss Sandra Gardner at the Raider office and say "pretty please."

JACK COOPER, a j a c k - o f - a l l trades at Nave Lanes for several years, has left the Ignacio bowling house to manage Murphy's resort on the Russian River beginning this Friday.

Duryee Headed For Cal
SAN RAFAEL HIGH basketball whiz Donald Duryee has signed a letter-of-intent to enroll at U. C. Berkeley while Tam golf star Steve Goldfien is Stanford-bound, where they produce top-notch golfers like John Brodie.

REDWOOD HIGH SCHOOL basketball coach Dick Hart and Ray Dal Poggetto of Greenbrae, supervisor of basketball officials for the Far West Conference, will leave May 22 on their safari to the Philippines where they will conduct basketball clinics for the Navy at three bases.

Hart and Dal Poggetto will come home via Osaka (with a yen to see the World Fair) and Tokyo.

BASEBALL FILBERTS are talking about a lively ball in the National League what with all the bye-bye baby scores, but the Novato junior lacrosse team has been running up some impressive scores, too, with 66 goals in its five league games, about double the norm. The Novato team, which has clinched the Northern Cal Lacrosse Assn. title, will close its season next Sunday, 12 noon, a g a i n s t San Rafael at Novato High School.

A Big Kick Out Of This Ball
GORDON TOVANI of San Rafael, who will conduct his second annual place-kicking clinic for 24 high school units S a t u r d a y at San Rafael High School, promises to have on display the world's largest football, compliments of the A. G. Spalding Co. How apropos in these inflationary times. . .

THE ANNUAL seventh and eighth grade Marin County Track Meet, where tomorrow's prep and college stars will be on display, is slated May 23 at Redwood High School. One of the best athletes in this meet's history was Dean Lazzarini who still holds three records set in 1961 and '62—5.5 seconds in the 50-yard dash, 10.7 in the 100 and 18 feet, 9 inches in the long jump. Lazz went from Brookside School in San Anselmo to track and grid stardom at Drake High.

JOHN DOLINSEK of Novato is belaboring the bejabbers out of the old horsehide as an outfielder for the Columbus, Ga. Astros in the Southern Association, stroking 11 hits in 26 at-bats during one hot spell to lift his season average to .328.

Meanwhile, ex-Redwood High flash Kenny Johnson is hitting only .175 for the Kinston, N.C. Yanks of the Carolina League. Kenny was a bonus baby for the Yanks who hasn't lived up to their expectations.

Athletics' Hurlers Facing Tough Task

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland pitchers Chuck Dobson and Jim "Catfish" Hunter face an un-welcome task tonight and Wednesday night.

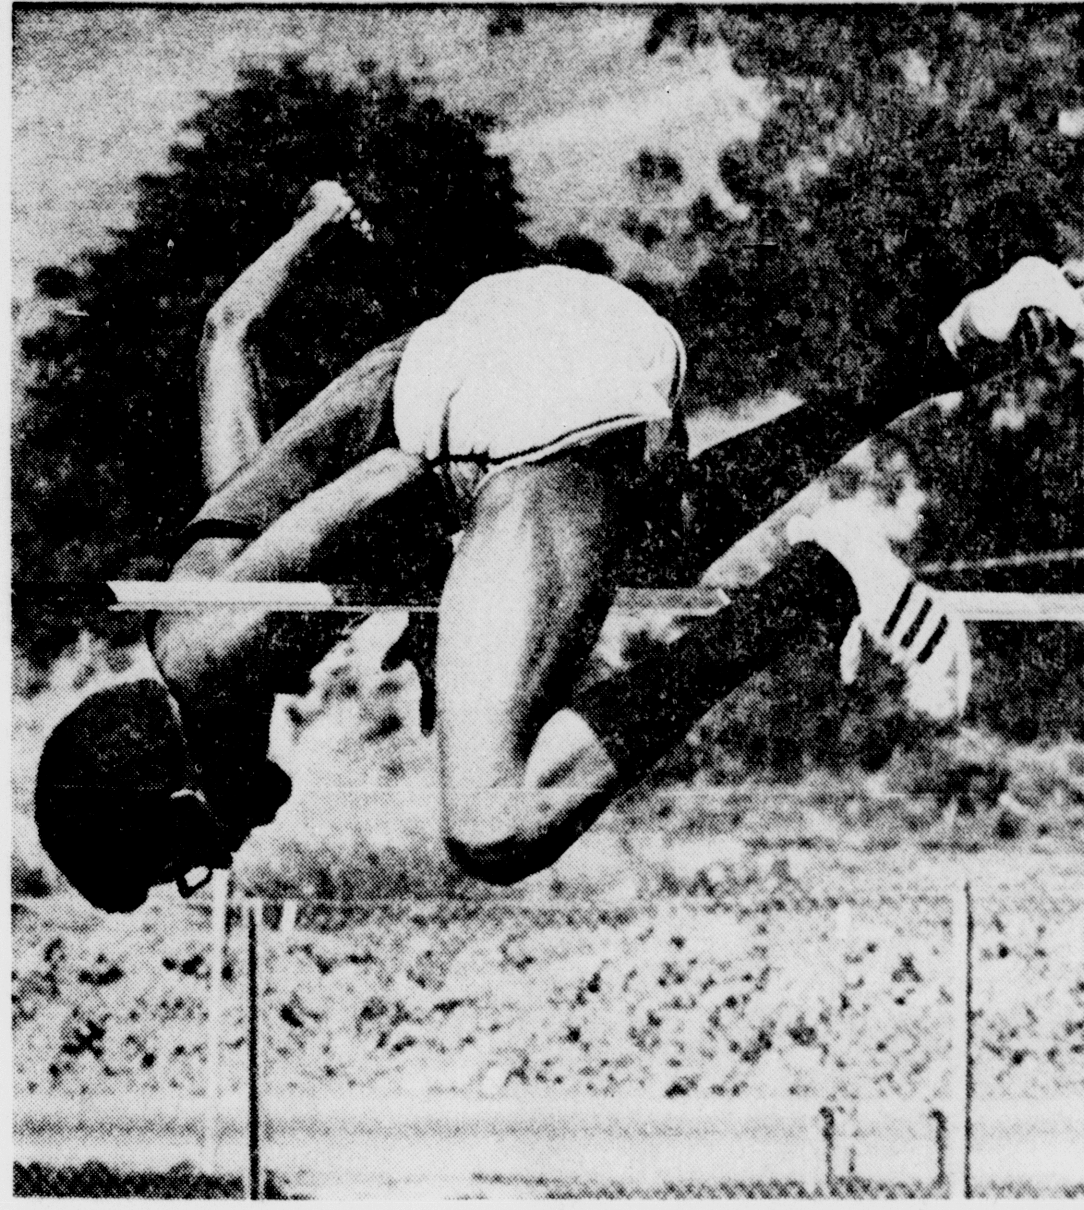

They are the Athletics' scheduled starters against the Washington Senators' power alley of Frank Howard, Mike Epstein and Rick Reichardt in a two-night series. Oakland was idle Monday.

Dobson, 2-4 will find out how much some extra tutelage pays off when he faces the Senators' Joe Coleman, 1-3, tonight.

Dobson and A's pitching coach Bill Posedel figure Dobson has been giving up too many homers because he has been throwing the ball too much overhand.

Posedel wants Dobson to throw the ball more to the side of his body, in a three-quarter motion, believing that will make Dobson's fast ball "move" more.

Hunter, the A's winningest pitcher at 5-2, will try to continue his good form. In 60 innings he has an earned run average of 2.10.

RECORDS—HIGH AND LONG—AT MARIN PREP MEET

Change Needed In System, Says Prep Swim Coach

By DAVID EINSTEIN

"The trouble with the Marin County Athletic League," according to Novato High School swimming coach Harland Bartholomew, "is that there are too many coaches who are only interested in winning."

In the wake of the MCAL championship meet 10 days ago when the host Tamalpais Indians were declared the winners after Novato, Redwood and favored Terra Linda were disqualified in the 200-yard medley relay, Bartholomew is not professing the mundane "winning isn't everything" theory.

A POINT
He has a point in mind. The fact is that Redwood and Terra Linda were disqualified on false starts in that key opening event. The Hornets were not ruled out of it until after the meet, when it was duly noted that they had entered a swimmer illegally. Jim Luntzel had wrestled in an AAU match at San Rafael High School a week prior to the meet, and therefore was not eligible to swim.

The point is, as Bartholomew sees it, that the coach who discovered the infraction knew about it before the meet and could have said something then, when it would have been possible to substitute for Luntzel.

"He's the best we have in the breaststroke, but the points we would have gotten even with a substitute would have won the meet for us."

TOOK TROPHY
Novato was ruled the unofficial winner at the end of the meet, and even took the trophy away. The official results were not tabulated until later that evening.

Incidentally, Luntzel didn't know he was doing anything wrong. He thought that the California Interscholastic Federation rule which he was going by applied locally, but it turns out the MCAL has a tougher rule of its own.

In retrospect, Bartholomew says, "The league meet is ridiculous the way it is run now. If you win it, you're not champions, the league championship goes to the winner of the dual meet season), even though you get a trophy. It doesn't prove anything."

The league meet exists as a qualifying event for the North Coast Section meet, and therefore each school is apt to sacrifice strength in its varsity class in order to drop certain swimmers to class B where they will have a better chance in the NCS.

Bartholomew says he would

Redwood Has Chance To Clinch The Title

Redwood High School sends its powerhouse baseball team against San Marin High of Novato tomorrow in a crucial Marin County Athletic League game.

For Redwood the game, to be played at Novato High School at 4 p.m., will be a chance to lock up at least a tie for the MCAL pennant. The undefeated Giants, who have won 10 games with four remaining, lead second place San Marin by two full games. The Mustangs have a

Sears Point Track Closes Operations

All Race Events Canceled

Northern California's motorsports buffs lost their number one mecca and playground yesterday with the announcement that the multi-million dollar Sears Point International Raceway would be closed indefinitely because it has lost too much money for its parent company. Hollywood-based Filmways, Inc.

Richard St. Johns, president of Filmways, made the announcement after flying to the Sonoma County track to give the bad news to SPIR president Craig Murray of San Rafael and his staff.

The track's closure means cancellation of eight remaining events on the 1970 schedule, starting with this Sunday's California Drag Championships and including such headline events as the $20,000 Continental 49er for Formula A cars June 27-28, the $25,000 Trans-American series race Sept. 19-20 and the $75,000 Canadian-American Challenge Cup event Nov. 7-8. The other events are regional sports, stock and drag car races.

Murray said yesterday he had no idea the end would come so quickly. Just last Tuesday he announced a drastic cutback in the track's budget but indicated the 1970 schedule could be fulfilled.

FOR SALE
It was widely known that Filmways, which purchased the raceway last July for a reported $7.5 million has been trying to sell it. The raceway lost $300,000 in its first 14 months of operation, Murray admitted last week. The track opened in March of 1969.

Most racing followers blamed unusually high ticket prices for smaller than expected crowds at championship events, resulting in the financial beating. Some experts put the finger on mismanagement and inexperience.

St. Johns would offer no comment on the future of the racing complex situated on the rolling hills at the intersection of highways 121 and 37. Some reports said if the track is not sold to a racing enterprise it would be leased out or placed under new management or perhaps turned into a housing development. The property covers 736 acres.

A statement from Filmways board chairman Marin Ransohoff yesterday said "We are convinced of the long range future of auto racing in the San Francisco Bay Area, but without better short term prospects, we do not intend to make any further investments at this time."

227 PITCHES

A Hard-Earned Win For Perry

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The way the San Francisco bullpen has been going lately, it isn't surprising that the Giants let Gaylord Perry throw the staggering total of 227 pitches and work the first 13 innings of a marathon 6-5 victory over San Diego Monday night.

The Giants appeared to sew up the game in the tenth when a tie-breaking single by Dick Dietz and a two-run single by Hal Lanier put San Diego in arrears, 5-2. But the Padres tied it in their half when Ollie Brown led off with a homer for the first of four straight San Diego hits.
